JUNIOR CHAMBER ELECTS STRAITH AS PRESIDENT

Annual Meeting of Junior Chamber Hears of Much Work in First Year

William T. Straith was last night unanimously elected president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the first annual meeting, held at the Chamber of Commerce restaurant. Walter Miles was named vice-president, and Secretary Harold Palmer was re-elected secretary, likewise by acclamation.

The directorate for the year 1928 will be: C. Ganner, W. N. Kennedy, H. Lethaby, Carew Martin and A. Wills. A vote of thanks was passed to retiring President Archie Muir, the directorate of the last year and Secretary Palmer, President Straith remarking that the first year of a new organization was a severe strain upon the officers, that the Junior Chamber had been served with brilliance and the diversity of work accomplished showed greater activity than any similar organization in North America.

The annual report of the activities of the last year, presented by Mr. Straith as vice-president during 1927, was as follows:

ANNUAL REPORT
"The Diamond Jubilee celebration sports programme was left in the hands of the Junior Chamber, and carried through successfully."

"Early in 1927 we arranged a conference with the president of the Winnipeg Junior Chamber, the first of its kind in Canada. To some extent, our activities have been governed by the experience of the Winnipeg organization."

"At the time we staged our membership campaign, which brought our strength above the century mark, the Victoria Daily Times allotted a full feature page to the aims and objects of our Junior Chamber, which proved to be of great value."

"A 'Clean-up and Paint-up Week' was brought to success by a Junior Chamber committee in co-operation with officials of the Employment Service of Canada, resulting in increased trade, the beautification of many homes and vacant properties and the creation of work."

AIDED ATHLETIC CLUB
"Our organization worked hard in favor of the by-law to transfer city properties to the Canadian Pacific Railway in return for the provision of new club quarters for the James Bay Athletic Association, the oldest athletic association in Canada. Improvement of the waterfront of the Inner Harbor also resulted."

"In the interests of continuity, your board of directors arranged for three Junior Chamber representatives to attend all business sessions of the senior board of directors."

"One of your members represented the Junior Chamber at gatherings called by the Pro Patria Branch of the Canadian Legion to discuss the care of destitute returned soldiers, although there has not yet developed anything of importance to report in this connection."

"Your industrial committee, under the chairmanship of William N. Kennedy, has discussed industrial development with the Provincial Industrial Commissioner, the City Water Commissioners and officials of the B. C. Electric Railway. These members have also been making investigations regarding the possibility of arranging a public exhibition of model inventions with a view to bringing good ideas into contact with required capital in an endeavor to establish new industries, if only on a small scale. Industrial committee members have also made periodic visits to the plants of the Growers' Wine Company, Hiker Toy Manufacturing Company, Phoenix Brewing Company and Ormond's Limited, where many interesting facts relative to the manufacture of the various products were learned."

CAPTAIN VANCOUVER CELEBRATION

"One of our members was delegated to serve on a citizens' committee appointed to co-operate with citizens of the State of Washington, in making arrangements for celebrating the 150th anniversary of the arrival of Captain George Vancouver on Puget Sound waters. This activity was for the purpose of drawing attention to the shipping possibilities of Puget Sound waters, and received quite a lot of outside publicity."

NO INTERFERENCE

"A request was received from the Junior Chamber of Winnipeg that we endorse their resolution calling upon the Federal Department of Justice to take immediate proceedings against firms and individuals guilty of smuggling goods into Canada. After lengthy consideration we decided to take no action in the matter, being convinced that the Department of Justice would exercise its powers in the Criminal Code where necessary, and that this particular department should in no way be dictated to in matters of a serious nature.

"Members of the Junior Chamber performed excellent work in assisting arrangements in connection with the Canadian Seed Growers' Convention."

"According to our request, C. P. W. Schwenger, president of the senior chamber, delivered a very interesting and instructive address on the subject of 'Freight Rates.'"

"You were called upon on many occasions to assist in providing autos for convention purposes, until they deemed it advisable to go on record as being opposed to the policy of requesting members to furnish automobiles for transportation for purposes of this nature; they also opposed the policy of using the organization for the sale of tickets."

TRADE CONFERENCE

"Seven Junior Chamber members assisted in arranging for and taking care of the Pacific Foreign Trade Conference, which proved to be the most successful convention of that particular world-wide organization of industrial magnates ever held. A ball at the Empress Hotel was also given in honor of the convention of the Pacific Foreign Trade Conference."

"Claude Fleming, promoter of the projected motion picture studio for Victoria, was invited to one of our general meetings, when those present, after cross-questioning him regarding all details, felt that he had outlined a feasible proposition, and agreed to support same when the by-law was placed before the ratifiers."

"Mr. Brown, promoter of the projected cold storage plant, partially outlined his proposition, but insofar as he gave very evasive answers to many questions, the proposition was turned down by those present."

EXPANSION SUPPORTED

"President Archie Muir attended the Canadian Chamber of Commerce Convention at Vancouver, in September, and in league with President D. McIlinden of Winnipeg urged that the institution of a Junior Chamber of Commerce in all Canadian cities should be encouraged. The idea was received with much enthusiasm and accordingly supported by favorable resolution, copies of which were forwarded to all important points in the country."

"A considerable amount of time has been spent by your directors and your agricultural committee in investigating the business side of such a distributing house is now being looked into by the industrial committee; your vice-president is also in communication over the matter with a Vancouver concern."

CIVIC CANDIDATE

"At the time of the civic elections we induced Archie Wills to stand as a candidate in the aldermanic contest, and this he did. This was the first time he had undertaken the proposal, and only failed to secure a seat on the City Council by six votes."

"At one of our general meetings we were fortunate in securing Ex-Mayor A. E. Todd, industrial adviser, and George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, to outline the advantages to be derived from industrial expansion and tourist trade development."

"On the occasion of one general meeting the difference between a partnership and a limited company and the advantages of each were interestingly outlined by Norman Whittaker and R. A. Wootton."

"At a further meeting Hon. A. M. Macdonald was prevailed upon to outline facts regarding the industrial progress of British Columbia."

WORSTED MILL BY-LAW

"When the Worst Mill By-law was placed before the ratifiers, your directors were very anxious to ensure its passage."

SPORTS GROUNDS

"A short time ago we commenced a new activity in considering the problem of bettering the various public sports grounds in the district, when the question was discussed from all angles and the faults to be remedied were tabulated."

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

"Arrangements for the 1928 Clean-up and Paint-up campaign have already been started and after consulting large number of merchants interested, the committee has set the dates as from April 14 to 21 inclusive. The Clean-up and Paint-up committee consists of H. Crisford, chairman; Cecil May, vice-chairman; R. H. Edgell, W. J. Fletcher, Vic King and Frank E. Godfrey."

"Your vice-president is following up an excellent suggestion advanced by Aubrey H. G. Jones, namely, that future British Columbia automobiles license plates be shaped so as to resemble and advertise one of the chief resources of the Province. This idea is being taken up by the Hon. the Attorney-General."

GIANT CHRISTMAS TREE
"During the Christmas period, Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, and H. J. Wilson, manager of the Empress Hotel, arranged for the illumination of Christmas trees on the grounds of the Parliament Buildings and the Empress Hotel. This was carried out at the instigation of the Junior Chamber."

"It is interesting to note that we have been in periodical communication with the civic development department of the United States Chamber of Commerce at Washington, D. C. and that this department has recently advised the Junior Chambers of Commerce in eighty different cities on the American Continent of the 1927 activities of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Victoria.

"In closing, I wish to express the regret of the directors in having lost the active help of President Archie Muir, who has been promoted in the British Columbia service of General Motors and is therefore compelled to make his headquarters in Vancouver."

A vote of thanks was tendered the music committee, and the meeting authorized extension of an invitation to the Senior Chamber to be represented at the monthly meetings of the Junior Chamber by three members.

VICTORIA DAY
President Straith explained the progress of the campaign for an unusual celebration of Victoria Day, May 24, being supported by the Junior Chamber. He believed that the festival should be developed on lines which would make Victoria Day a festival attracting visitors from all parts of the Northwest Pacific, and asserted that this could be attained with the co-operation of all the Chambers of Commerce of the Pacific Coast. "We are going to get whole-hearted support, and will put this celebration over in a big way," he forecasted.

ICE CARNIVAL

"A review of the programme for the Ice Frolic at the Arena this evening surprised the members, the variety of the programme being remarkable. In addition to hockey, there will be comedy, races, skating feats, artistic skating by the Misses Jo and Vi Holt of Vancouver, and good music. The proceeds will be expended upon improvement of athletic grounds in the city, the members were informed."

DEATH SENTENCE GIVEN

Chicago, March 2.—After three hours and a half of deliberation, a jury here last night convicted Dr. Amanti Rongetti of murder and fixed his punishment at death for performing an illegal operation on Loretta Enders, nineteen, which caused her death. It is the first death sentence passed in Cook County (Chicago) since electrocution displaced hanging as a means of execution in this state.

MOTHER SAYS "HUSKY HELPED HER LITTLE BOY"

MRS. LOUDEN

Once again Nature's great remedy proves it will help. One of the many cases that have come to attention is explained in the following statement made by Mrs. K. Loudon, 1731 Broad Street, Regina. In this statement Mrs. Loudon not only tells of the splendid help "Husky" was to her little son, but that both she and Mr. Loudon are also using this medicine with fine results. "It is remarkable the way 'Husky' has helped my little son, Billy, who is just two years of age. About a year ago he began suffering from constipation. I gave him all kinds of children's medicines, yet nothing seemed to regulate his bowels. It was a case of giving Billy one thing after another. As other mothers were telling that 'Husky' was very good for children, I decided to try this."

"It is most remarkable the way this medicine has regulated his bowels. Why, each day he enjoys bowel action at least once and sometimes twice. 'Both my husband and I are also taking 'Husky' with fine results.' If you don't feel well go to-day to McParlane's or any other well stocked drug store and get a bottle of

MANY VOICES TRIBUTE TO LATE MR. SLOAN

Messages of Appreciation Show High Esteem Accorded Late Minister

Tributes from parliamentarians, from the Speaker to the newest member to the Legislature, speak in the highest terms of the late Mr. Sloan, as miner, sportsman, administrator, politician and friend. These tributes traverse the period of his life from his youth, when he traveled to the Orient, through the stirring days of the Yukon, where he is described as one of the few men who held his head in those hectic days, down to more recent years, in his political and federal activity, as member of parliament and minister. All who paid tribute felt a loss for words adequately to express their admiration for his high ideals in life.

PREMIER TELLS OF CONSIDERATION

Speaking of his departed colleague this morning, Premier MacLean said: "The news of his collapse last night came to me as a shock. I knew, of course, that his health for some time past had not been good, but of late he appeared to have improved and we were all hopeful of his recovery. For that reason his end at last appeared to come with tragic suddenness."

"How much I shall miss him one can hardly realize. I have known Mr. Sloan personally for a quarter of a century, and between him, Mr. Pattullo and myself there was a bond of comradeship as the only surviving members in the present Government of the Cabinet formed by Mr. Brewster in 1916. Not less than four members of the Government have answered the last call. Naturally, I feel keenly the passing of these old and tried colleagues and that of Mr. Sloan not the least."

"Whether serving under Mr. Brewster, Mr. Oliver or with myself, Mr. Sloan's loyalty and sense of fair play could always be relied on. He was at all times a wise counselor and an efficient administrator. To the Mines Department he was able to bring a wealth of practical experience and his work will long be felt in better and safer conditions in our mines, and in mining laws that are considered among the best in the world."

"One of Mr. Sloan's outstanding characteristics was his loyalty to his riding of Nanaimo. Not only did he like to make his home in the district, but he applied to every question was how it would affect the welfare of his constituents. They related that loyalty with unwavering persistence. "There is a man of the people, he gave his hearty support to all measures for the mitigation of the lot of the workman. One of the last bills he introduced was a warm advocate was the Old Age Pension bill."

"Apart from all else Mr. Sloan was possessed with many admirable human qualities, which endeared him to his general popularity, and endeared him particularly to those who were brought into close and intimate contact with him. I feel that I speak not only for myself and the Government but for a much larger circle when I say that his passing has left a void that will not easily be filled."

"GREAT PERSONALITY," SAYS HON. E. D. BARROW

Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, found difficulty in expressing his sense of loss in the passing of the late Mr. Sloan. "Here is a man gone," he said with feeling. "One feels a sense of personal loss, difficult to explain to those unfamiliar with his character. To me the true quality of a man one must have worked with him, camped and otherwise associated together. Such were my associations with William Sloan, and there I found him a man indeed," said Mr. Barrow.

"To my mind the passing of the Honorable William Sloan removes from the realm of public life in British Columbia a man of striking personality, one who has left his imprint on the political history of the Province."

"As a personal friend I wish to pay tribute to his sterling qualities of loyalty and devotion to the public for those with whom he was associated."

"His wide and varied experience of life and his understanding of human nature attracted many to him who valued his friendship and who are now mourning his loss."

"ABLE ADMINISTRATOR"

Hon. Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, stated: "It was, indeed, to me a severe blow when I learned last night of the sudden death of my colleague, Mr. William Sloan."

"I had been associated with him for the past twelve years, and during that time I appreciated the cordial spirit of co-operation which he extended to me in all matters in connection with the administration of both departments. I found him a sincere friend, a loyal colleague and an able administrator."

"The human side of his character was always uppermost and it was the little things in life that counted with him. In all the dealings with my department, he was a man of the strongest spirit of sympathy he had for those struggling to get along in life's battle. For such he had a tender spot in his heart."

"I regret his passing more than I can express in words. We shall miss him in our Cabinet. His advice in all matters dealing with the welfare of our Province, when discussed in council, was always sound, sympathetic and practical."

SPEAKER BUCKHAM KEENLY GRIEVED

The shock of Mr. Sloan's death is keenly felt by Speaker John A. Buckham, who no later than last evening walked from the chamber to the Belmont Block with the late Minister of Mines, joking and laughing. Mr. Buckham was a close friend and associate of Mr. Sloan and had been elected in 1916, and had known each other intimately for the past thirteen years.

"What can I say, except that he was one of the most popular members of the cabinet," said Mr. Buckham this morning. "He was one of the ministers whose administration of his department left nothing undone. He was a man of action in all matters pertaining to his district. As an evidence of his great popularity he had the remarkable record of never having been attacked in the Legislature except in some insignificant detail."

"Of the members of the House who were in the Legislature in 1916 only six of us are left on the Liberal side and three on the Conservative. There are Premier MacLean, Hon. A. M. Manson, Mr. Pattullo, Mr. Sutherland and Mr. Barrow and myself, and of the Opposition only Mr. Pooley, Mr. Jones and Mr. Schofield.

"Always did we find Mr. Sloan genial and kindly; win or lose he was always best side up, and his loss is felt very keenly indeed by us all; for we feel that we have lost not only a colleague, an associate, but a good friend."

"He was in my office yesterday, greatly pleased at the speedy manner in which his estimates went through the House. He was in excellent spirits, and planned a trip to California and to the Hawaiian Islands. Now he is gone."

R. H. POOLEY PAYS FEELING TRIBUTE

"Even while we knew him to be suffering, patiently and with a smile in the face of threatening death for weary months past, the passing of 'Bill' Sloan comes to me, as it must to all of us, as a sudden blow."

"It is hard to realize he is gone from among us—the friend who was with us yesterday, cheery and courteous and kindly, as he could not help be, since it was his nature."

"We have—I have—all of us who knew him, have lost a friend. He was an opponent who could never be an enemy. He was a sportsman in the finest and truest sense. He was an exemplar of the ethics of chivalry and a prince of generosity."

"His breadth of charity for human failings, his adventurous courage, his fine regard for the rights and feelings of others stamped him all a man."

"I miss him deeply as a real and true friend. Yesterday he was with us. To-day he sleeps. God gives us of his memories that will be for us roses in the December of our years."

CARL PENDRAY MAYOR OF VICTORIA

The Province of British Columbia has sustained a real loss in the passing of the Hon. William Sloan, late Minister of Mines and former Provincial Secretary.

His life-long experience with mining affairs in the Province was evidenced in the practical legislation sponsored by him, and it is a matter for the deepest regret that the career of such an able man has terminated so suddenly.

WAS "SQUARE-SHOOTER," SAYS J. H. SCHOFIELD

"Nothing that I could say, after forty-one years close personal acquaintance with Billy Sloan, could tell you my real impression of him as a public man, upright in all his doings," said J. H. Schofield, Roseland-Trail, who is the oldest parliamentarian in the House.

"When I first met him, in 1887, he was living in Vancouver, and was at that time champion amateur carman of the Pacific Coast."

"He was always a square-shooter. I have known him right through his public life, as a man who was trusted, even by his political opponents, to do the square thing. He was a hard hitter, but always fair to his adversary."

"Traveling widely over the province, he gathered the most many attributes, and clung to them. An absolute optimist, he broadcast his optimism among his friends."

"There were many industrial disputes that came under his administration, but even here as in politics, he gained the confidence of all parties."

KLONDIKE DAYS RECALLED TO VIEW

A tribute to the late Mr. Sloan's Klondike days was paid by J. A. McDonald, newly-elected member for Nelson.

"Mr. Sloan went into the Klondike in 1897," said Mr. McDonald. "I went in the Spring of '98, and met him at Dawson, where he was working Claim 15 at Eldorado. During the two years I was there, Bill Sloan's name stood for everything connected with law and order and good living in those hectic days."

"He looked after his claim, shepherded his resources and did not succumb to the prevailing tendency to run wild. You might say he was one of the few men who kept his head."

"He endeared himself to everyone he met, as he has done ever since. He was ever ready to help the needy, and there were many needy souls, who were the recipients of his unostentatious bounty."

BLAKE WILSON SENDS REGRETS

W. J. Blake Wilson, chairman of the P.E. Board of Directors, telegraphed the directorate's regrets for the "loss of a true friend and very capable member of the Board of striking personality."

MINING INDUSTRY LOSES FRIEND

"The mining industry of British Columbia never had a better friend or one who gave such constructive and intelligent effort to better the conditions of the workers, and further the interests of the operators," telegraphed Valentine Quinn to the Premier, to whom he conveyed an expression of the sympathy of the "your very able lieutenant."

"His loss will be keenly felt in the public affairs of this Province particularly in the industry whose interests he protected and guided with such wise and practical counsel."

PRESIDENT OF B.C. CHAMBER OF MINES

Vancouver, March 2.—"Mining men throughout the Province will learn with the deepest regret of the death of Hon. William Sloan," said Alderman F. E. Woodside, president of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines. "The minister was a practical man, a man who had his heart and soul in his work, and he performed inestimable service for the mining industry in British Columbia. I knew him as a personal friend, as did hundreds of men interested in mining in this Province."

"Members of the B.C. Chamber of Mines particularly will feel his loss, because he had always been a staunch supporter of the work carried on by the chamber."

"As heads of the Department of Mines, he will be hard to replace. He knew his work and loved it and his long experience in dealing with mining problems was reflected in legislation for which he was responsible."

SURGEON HEARD AT GOODWIN TRIAL

today that the fracture at the base could not have been made by a blow with a fence post.

The opinion is important from the point that at the first trial of Goodwin the defence attempted to show Patterson was accidentally run over and forced into a fence by an automobile driven by Albert Dewey Gaines.

It is the contention of the prosecution that Patterson was killed by a blow from an iron hook found near the body of the Santa Ana canyon. J. E. Esle, Fullerton undertaker, who cared for the body after its discovery, and Dr. J. Mengens, dentist of Fullerton, who charted the teeth at the time, were other witnesses called to-day. Their testimony was for the purpose of further identification of the body as that of Patterson.

RESIDENCE BUILDING IS BRISK

ARCHITECTS ARE BUSY

Architects of the city are busily engaged in designing houses which will be erected for clients during the Spring and Summer, and realtors report numerous inquiries for small properties by prospective home owners.

Ralph Merrill is the designer of a $16,500 residence for Gilbert Fraser, which is to be erected immediately on Despard Avenue, the new thoroughfare which has been laid through the Pemberton Estate, immediately to the south of Rockland Avenue.

Hunter and Hallett are the general contractors for this handsome two-story home of eleven rooms which will be finished in California stucco. H. R. Smith will install the plumbing and hot water heating, Wm. N. O'Neil & Company, the glass and tiling; Hawkins & Hayward the electrical fittings and fixtures, and Mellor Bros. have the painting, all of which are separate contracts.

H. Leggett is building a fine residence on Beach Drive, Oak Bay, for L. A. Adamson, K. B. Spurgin being the architect. Mr. Spurgin is also preparing working drawings for a large house which will shortly be erected on Esquimalt Road. The same architect has placed a contract with Eli Hume for a residence to be built on Seaview Road, Ten-Mile Point. Architect S. MacLure announces the preparation of plans for a couple of $10,000 residences in Oak Bay and another $15,000 home on Rockland Avenue, for which tenders in course of erection for Oliver W. Pauline.

Hubert Savage, designer of a $4,500 home, to be erected on Island Road, Oak Bay, has placed the contract with the Walker Building Company.

Mr. Savage is the architect for a Foul Bay Road residence which is now in course of erection for Oliver W. Pauline.

Work has just been commenced on a $5,500 home for H. Tynack at 1221 Beach Drive.

MENTAL TEST IN McCONACHIE CASE TO BE REPEATED

was found to be mentally defective, and admission to Canada was refused. The mother returned with the child, the other children remaining in Canada with the father.

Since the opening of this session of Parliament there have been numerous references to the case.

NEW RULES IN FORCE

During his speech yesterday afternoon, made in the course of the budget debate, Hon. J. H. King reviewed the institution of the new Government regulations for the medical inspection of immigrants at ports of embarkation in Europe instead of the ports of disembarkation in Canada. The change, said Dr. King, had first been suggested by various provincial governments and followed several conferences between immigration and transportation officials.

Fifteen or twenty Canadian medical men had been placed in Europe, and Dr. King was certain the services of these men under the new system would be of advantage to the people of Canada and the transportation companies. Some objection had been expressed in certain British newspapers, but, said Dr. King, Canadian medical officers were the proper men to examine intending immigrants.

FAMILY DISCUSSED

He dealt next with the recent case of a family who had arrived at Halifax. He did not intend, however, to mention the name of the family as he considered it was unfair to the family that its name should be mentioned in having one of its members a mentally defective infant.

This family had arrived at Halifax in December of last year. There were five children, and as usual a physician representing the Department of Health of Canada, in this case Dr. Rutherford, went aboard the vessel and examined the children.

The youngest child was found to be mentally defective. It was fourteen months old. The child was transported back to England. In London it was examined by three other Canadian physicians, who sustained Dr. Rutherford's diagnosis.

NO PERMIT POSSIBLE

The Minister declared Dr. Rutherford had refused admission to the child under a clause of the Immigration Act and that his action precluded the Minister of Immigration from admitting the child under a special permit. The attacks on the Minister of Immigration in this case were unfair, said Dr. King, and the Department of Health was willing to take the full responsibility for its share in the matter.

Dr. King said he was willing the child should have another examination in England, and if it was found to be admissible under Canadian laws, and regulations, it would be allowed to come into Canada.

Gulf Drugging Operations Fail

Vancouver, March 2.—Drugging operations, which were continued Thursday at Active Pass in an endeavor to find the automobile which was lost off the Ss. Princess Louise last Friday, again proved unsuccessful.

Considerable gear was broken in the search and the provincial police, who are carrying on the operations, are none to optimistic of finding the machine.

THREE BRITISH AIRMEN KILLED

Chatham, Eng., March 2.—Three members of the Royal Air Force were killed to-day in the crash of their plane from a height of 2,000 feet above the Isle of Grain. The machine was one of a squadron stationed at Eastchurch.

"The machine seemed to be flying all right, but suddenly died a spiral dive, came spinning to the ground and broke in two," said an eyewitness. "I saw the bodies of an officer and two men in the wreckage and helped to get them out."

HON. WILLIAM SLOAN

IN THE DEATH OF HON. WILLIAM
Sloan the public life of British Columbia has lost a prominent figure and the Liberal Party an able champion. For many months, of course, he had been more or less under medical observation; but his friends had every reason to suppose that the care which he had taken of himself since the serious illness which seized him some time ago would have enabled him to carry on for many years longer. It was not to be, however, and the end came unexpectedly, a little after midnight. He died literally in harness, for only a comparatively few hours before he had announced an important experiment that the Department over which he presided was about to recommend in respect of the use of pulverized coal as a substitute for oil—practical evidence of his solicitude for the welfare of the principal industry of the riding which he had for so long represented in the Legislature.

Mr. Sloan had taken an active part in the public life of this Province for more than a quarter of a century. He first entered the political arena as a Liberal candidate for Vancouver—which the present electoral district of Nanaimo was then called—in the Dominion general election of 1900. He was not successful on that occasion; but he had not long to wait before he realized his ambition. In 1904 he took his seat in the House of Commons as the member for the constituency of Comox-Atlin, and the electors of that riding marked their appreciation of his services in their behalf by returning him by acclamation four years later. He did not take his seat in the following session, however, but resigned in favor of Hon. William Templeman, then Minister of Inland Revenue and Mines. For several years afterwards, although his interest in public affairs never for a moment waned, he was not actively associated with political life. But the scent of battle still was in his nostrils. His four years at Ottawa had fired his imagination, and it was not likely that so comparatively young a man, with experience in the Federal field as a background, could remain away for long. Thus, when the McBride-Bowser Government went to the country in 1916, Mr. Sloan captured Nanaimo and represented that riding faithfully and ably until the end.

Not a little of the credit for the striking victory which the late Mr. Brewster won on that occasion belongs to the sturdy Liberal who has just passed on. His political judgment was unerring and he was a successful tactician. But he was not a bitter antagonist; he made friends of members of all sides, and no public man was more generally esteemed. His outstanding qualities were recognized by his leader and it was a foregone conclusion that he would be the first Liberal Minister of Mines for British Columbia. But there was another and even more important reason why the choice for this portfolio would be made in favor of Mr. Sloan. His experience in the Yukon had brought him into intimate association with the prospector—of whose welfare he always has been an ardent champion—and his interest in mining generally had especially equipped him for the administration of that Department. How wise the choice was is reflected in the esteem in which he was held by the industry as a whole. In the actual business of departmental administration, moreover, Mr. Sloan manifested exceptional ability. A keen student of men, he gathered around him officers of high qualities and experience in the mining field.

Not the least important of Mr. Sloan's duties as a Cabinet Minister, however, were those which devolved upon him as provincial Commissioner of Fisheries. He it was who warned the International Fisheries Commission ten years ago that drastic action would have to be taken if the sockeye fishing industry of the Fraser River system was to be preserved. On numerous occasions since then he has repeated that warning; but it no doubt was a source of satisfaction to him that he was spared to see what appears to be the beginning of an intelligent recognition of the absolute necessity of following the advice which he gave so long ago. As Provincial Secretary, also, a portfolio perhaps not as exacting in its demands upon him as that of Mines, Mr. Sloan rendered useful service to his province.

Those who attended the debates in the Legislature in the earlier years of the Liberal regime will recall how Mr. Sloan expounded, session after session, the cause of Settlers' Rights on Vancouver Island. These speeches probably were among the most interesting and convincing that he ever delivered. He knew his subject thoroughly and every utterance in respect of it bore the mark of conviction and sincerity. Nor should it be forgotten that it was Mr. Sloan who fired the first shot in the local House in the cause of Old Age Pensions. Here again he had the satisfaction of being a Minister of the Crown of the first province to avail itself of the Federal measure which has brought light at eventide to so many old people in British Columbia.

Mr. Sloan was a keen sportsman. In his younger days, in fact until a year or so ago, he had splendid physique and great physical strength. He was at home in the woods, a successful hunter and fisherman, and always could be depended upon to give practical assistance to every branch of sport. He believed in the value of healthy recreation and in recent years, feeling that more strenuous exercise was denied him, took up golf and soon wielded driver and masher as well as many of his juniors.

Mr. Sloan has passed away a comparatively young man; but in the period of his life he achieved success in many things. His career, in fact, was full of achievement and interest and he was in every sense a successful man. He will be missed in the Legislature, where he was highly esteemed on all sides, while he also will be missed throughout the Province generally, and The Times tenders its sincere sympathy to his family in their sad bereavement.

MR. AMERY IN CANADA

THOSE FEW NEWSPAPERS AND PUBLIc men in Canada who would keep Canadians in rompers and feed them with soothing syrup will be shocked by Colonel Amery's remarks at the Canadian Club dinner in London Wednesday. The Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs was describing what he had learned on his tour of the British Commonwealth of Nations—and he said: "I have returned home with a truer perception of what the Empire means, namely, a girdle of free, independent nations linked around the globe."

Now watch for outbursts from our Crown Colonies. How dare Mr. Amery suggest, for instance, that Canada is a free and independent nation? Yet these were his words. But they represent no new sentiment for him. In South Africa, in the Antipodes, and again in Canada he declared that the equality of status which the Dominions now enjoy was a guarantee of strength and unity, a sign of youth and virility, and not a sign either of decay or disunion. But it will not do for those who sigh for the "good old days" of the Family Compact. To them Canada always will be the child who should be seen and not heard.

PROPOSED ARCHITECTS' ACT CHANGE

IT HAS BEEN RUMORED THAT EFforts would be made to amend the Architects' Act in such a way as to increase the cost of home building. Some letters to the newspapers have stated that it is proposed to prohibit buildings or alterations in remodeling buildings—except those to be personally occupied by the person having the work done—unless designed and supervised through members of the architects' association; that no building could be constructed or remodeled for sale or purchase except under such supervision.

Mr. Percy Fox, as president of the Architects' Institute of British Columbia, has declared that this report is incorrect. He says the object of the amendment is to define what is meant by "own use" of a building, that it is a necessary change in order to carry out the spirit of the Act of 1921—owing to the wide interpretation of the words "own use" in law. In fact, he says, the amendment is necessary to make the law clear.

In view of the numerous attempts in recent years to get legislation before the Legislature designed to confer benefits upon the few at the expense of the many, it is not surprising that rumors regarding the nature of the proposed architects' bill has aroused public suspicion. If, however, as Mr. Fox explains, the amendment is merely to clear up some ambiguities, we take it that the Legislature, when it deals with the matter, will see to it that no other ambiguities will arise from the changes, and that the public interest will be strictly safeguarded.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE MAN WHO DOES THINGS WELL

(From The Toronto Star)
As a boy of fifteen, James Robb discussed with his brother the question of which should stay on the home farm and which learn a trade. James rather inclined to farming, but finally elected to go milling instead. He had also the opportunity to become a preacher, a clergyman friend having offered to put him through college on that condition. But he preferred to be the dusty miller of Valleyfield, little dreaming that the path he was choosing would lead him at last to the finance ministry of Canada.

MISSISSIPPI BASIN AND THE NATION

(From The Boston Transcript)
Congress now has before it two leading propositions for Mississippi flood control. The Army engineers' report and programme represents the scientific view of the problem. The report of the Flood Control Committee of the House of Representatives, just brought in, represents the political view of it. According to the engineers, the Government would bear eighty per cent of the cost of control and the States and localities twenty per cent. Under the House committee plan, Uncle Sam takes the whole burden. Even Vermont, who has had to pay thus far the cost of her own recovery from a most disastrous flood, would be taxed to repair and prevent damages in Louisiana and Mississippi, and get nothing for its own protection. Another leading difference between the engineers' plan and the House committee's is that the engineers are shy of reservoir prevention at the sources; they depend mainly on levees and on the relief of the stress on the Mississippi by means of the Atchafalaya and other paralleling outlets.

JOTS FROM GEOGRAPHY

MAY'S WELL, in Nazareth, in the Holy Land, has been the best source of water in all Palestine for 3,000 years. The natives of the countryside flock here to fill their crocks and jars with the pure, delicious water. Even Nazareth has changed with the years, for just beside the well is a modern sign aimed at speedsters. The message is printed in English, Arabic and Hebrew.

Luxton

Luxton, March 2—A well-attended meeting of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Stewart Hutchison. In the absence of the president the chair was taken by Mrs. S. Hutchison, vice-president.

The formation of a boys' and girls' poultry club will be discussed at a future meeting.

A letter from Mrs. A. L. Gordon, president of the B.C. Women's Institute, regarding a survey of homes in the district, was read by the secretary and it was decided to hold the matter over until the return of the president. The meeting decided to ask the Rev. A. de B. Owen to unveil the plaque presented by the Dominion Government to Happy Valley School. This is in commemoration of Confederation.

After all business had been concluded an interesting demonstration of candy making was given by Mrs. A. Cuthbertson of Langford Lake. With already prepared fondant many different types of candy were made and instruction given in chocolate dipping. Keen interest was shown by all members present, and a hearty vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Cuthbertson.

Tra hostesses were Mrs. Butt and Mrs. S. H. Hutchison.

PAVILION SERIES AWARDED TO COAST

Vancouver's Plea For National Tournament Listened To In the East

Next Year Easterners Must Come to Coast to Contest for Canadian Honors; Coast at Last Getting Proper Recognition in All Sports; Vancouver Players Doing Extremely Well in Championships at Toronto and Are Favorites to Win Titles

Toronto, March 2.—The Canadian Badminton championships for 1929 were allotted to the British Columbia Association at a meeting of the executive of the Canadian Badminton Association held here to-day. They will be held in Vancouver sometime in March next year.

This news will be received with much interest by the many badminton players and followers in British Columbia. It goes to prove that this Province is beginning to be recognized as a centre where sporting events of national importance can be staged.

For three years in succession the Canadian lawn tennis championships were staged in Vancouver and Victoria and drew splendid fields and big attendance.

Last Spring the finals of the Allan Cup for the Canadian amateur hockey championship were held in Vancouver and, although both teams were from the East, Toronto Grads and Port William, the great Arena was sold out for four games and a new attendance record for the series was set.

Now the Badminton supporters have convinced the East of the desirability of holding the championships on the Pacific Coast in order to give more Western players an opportunity to participate. Lacrosse and pro hockey finals have been played on the Coast. It will be up to the football supporters to make the East see the light of day and get the finals of the Connaught Cup series played on the Coast. One of the Vancouver Island teams usually reaches the finals and most times wins, but they have to travel either to Winnipeg or Toronto to play.

Toronto, March 2.—From 9 o'clock in the morning until midnight the battle of Badminton raged on the courts of the Toronto Badminton and Racquet Club. By dint of this perseverance, three events and two consolation were brought down to the semi-final stage.

Toronto Grads Thrill Germans With Hockey and Load Up With Cups

Paris, March 2 (Canadian Press Cable).—Toronto Grads, Olympic champions, have arrived here laden with silver cups given by Berlin in appreciation of the splendid exhibition game the Grads played against their substitutes while visiting in the German city prior to coming to Paris.

W. A. Hewitt, Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association and manager of the team, stated that the game was one of the best ever seen. The Grads beat their spurs 5-4.

To-morrow night the Grads will play the Paris team at the Palais de Glace, and will then go to London to meet an all-star English team on Sunday.

On March 9 the Grads will be presented to the Prince of Wales. Mr. Hewitt, commenting on the trip, said the sight which impressed him most was that which occurred at Vienna when everybody at the rink stood with bowed heads when God Save the King was played before the game. The Grads played against the Austrian team.

ISLAND HOOP TITLE WILL BE SETTLED

Jordan River Play Duncan Tomorrow Night in Deciding Game

Two Important Preliminary Games; High School to Meet Andrens For City Title

In the deciding game for the men's senior "A" basketball championship of Vancouver Island, the Jordan River team, City Basketball League champions, will meet Duncan at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium to-morrow night, starting at 9 o'clock.

The winners will play off with Mainland teams for the British Columbia championship.

Jordan River will enter the second game with a lead of eighteen points gained in the first game played at Duncan last week, when they won by 41-23. This is quite an advantage and if the River team flash their proper form, they should have no trouble coping with the title.

Two preliminary games will be played previous to the senior tussle. In the opening game of the evening the High School and Andrens will meet to decide the City League Intermediate "A" championship. This should be a fast game, as both have good squads, and will start at 7:30 o'clock.

In the second game, the Red Wings will meet Keatings in the ladies' knockout league.

With such a fine programme of games scheduled the "Y" gym is certain to be packed to capacity.

At the conclusion, the senior men's game, Alderman James Adam will present the cup to the winning team.

Waratahs to Face Very Strong "Rep" Side In Vancouver

Vancouver, March 2.—Waratahs will meet an exceptionally strong "rep" side Saturday afternoon when they stage their final exhibition here before sailing for Australia, March 7. The team selected by Dick Bell-Irving and announced Thursday night, will differ considerably from that which faced the tourists last Saturday.

Urquhart and Hee McLean have been given places on the back division, while Lawn, Taylor and Barker will be seen in the Pack. Here is the team named for the big battle: Fullback, Bob Rowan; Three-McKay, Urquhart, M. Rowan (captain), Pinkham, Wilson; Standoff half—Farson; Half—Lean; Forwards—Lawn, Donaldson, Taylor, Tiffin, Bain, Barker, Robinson.

President MacFarlane was selected as the local league's delegate to the annual meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Baseball Association to be held in Vancouver, on March 10.

Officers elected for the year were as follows: Honorary president, Mayor J. Carl Pender; honorary first vice-president, Alderman James Adam; honorary second vice-president, Alderman Robert Dewar; president, Dave MacFarlane; vice-president, L. O. Oliphant; secretary-treasurer, Cyril Baker; board of governors, Ted Bailey, Walter Lorimer and Ted Bailey; grounds committee, J. Williams, F. B. Richardson, J. Curtis and Matt Hunter.

OUR MAIL BAG

CLEAN UP SOCCER

To the Sports Editor—Having been an ardent follower of soccer in this city for a number of years I was very much interested in the letters to the Editor; press reports of City Council proceedings, etc., arising out of the state of affairs in football circles this year.

It is not my intention to comment on the writings or actions of anyone concerned as I believe they are all right to a certain extent and all prompted by the desire to place the game on a plane worthy of the classification of sport.

As it is practically impossible for any individual to know everything connected with the game and the cause of the troubles, it is just as difficult for a few men in the City Council or a few writers in the press to place the matter, yet there is another way in which they could remedy the trouble and which, I believe, would be more effective and certainly more satisfactory to all concerned, and for this reason I would suggest a public meeting be held to which all fans interested in the advancement of the game, together with any of the Aldermen who wished to attend, and the members of the Lower Island Football Council and referees be invited, and at which the different points could be dealt with, and a co-operative effort made to remedy the situation.

As a number of spectators have expressed their willingness to contribute towards the cost of the hall, I hope the sporting public will avail themselves of the opportunity of helping to improve the game and at the same time increase the revenue to the city from the Royal Athletic Park.

HERBERT S. WETHERILL, 1120 Caledonia Avenue.

Montreal, March 2.—Albert E. Pearl, Quebec and Eastern Canada amateur billiard champion, will take a lead of 146 points into the second stage of the Dominion championship play-to-day as the result of outscoring C. A. Payne, Western Canada champion, 1,000 to 854 yesterday.

Steeplechaser Falls And Is Destroyed

London, March 3 (Canadian Press Cable).—One candidate for Grand National honors was removed yesterday when Major J. North's veteran steeplechaser, White Park, fell while running in a four-mile handicap steeplechase at Manchester.

White Park, who was a nine-year-old gelding by Redmond-Lady Aveline, a veteran of previous Grand Nationals, had to be destroyed.

White Park's amateur rider, H. B. Brown, was uninjured.

ENGLISH RUNNER OF MUCH FAME FAVORITE FOR LONG COAST-TO-COAST GALLOP

Los Angeles, March 2.—One of the oldest entrants ranks as one of the prime favorites in the Los Angeles-to-New York marathon race, starting Sunday.

Arthur Newton of England, forty-four years old, is regarded as one of the best bets among the 276 runners and walkers qualified to start in the cross-country event.

Hailed as England's greatest long-distance runner, Newton holds several world's amateur records for marathon jaunts. He is credited with holding every record from twenty-nine miles to the century mark. His acquisition of the 100-mile record was a recent accomplishment. It is 14 hours 22.10 seconds.

The marathoner is a resident of Rhodesia, Union of South Africa.

Hornsby Takes Cut in His Salary and Says He Will Show Boss His Gratitude

Boston, March 2.—Advice from the Boston Braves' training camp at St. Petersburg, Florida, about Rogers Hornsby's new three-year contract is that he will receive $40,000 a year with an annual $600 bonus to act as captain. He signed the contract yesterday.

The contract was voluntarily submitted to the "Rajah" by Judge Fuchs, president of the club, and came as a surprise to Hornsby, whose contract with the New York Giants which the Braves took over when he was traded to the Boston has another year to run.

WILL GIVE BEST IN RETURN

Hornsby's New York contract was for $45,000 a season. He characterized Judge Fuchs's action as "handsome," and said, "You may be sure that I appreciate the consideration shown me, and if I can make it up to the Boston club, giving it the best that is in me, certainly I will do so."

Things have moved along so smoothly at the Bradenton, Florida, camp of the Red Sox that Manager Carrigan has announced that real baseball will start next week by the Sox entertaining the St. Louis Cardinals.

BASEBALL LEAGUE ELECTS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

D. C. MacFarlane New President of Senior League; Cyril Baker Is Secretary

Officers for the year were elected by the Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League at their annual meeting held last night at the Y.M.C.A., with President Matt Hunter presiding.

The gathering was well attended and it looks like the simon pures will experience another successful season.

Dave MacFarlane, for many years associated with amateur baseball, and a former president, was elected to the presidency of the league to succeed Mr. Hunter. The retiring president was strongly urged to remain in office for another year, but he remained by his decision to enter the chair after guiding the destinies of the league for the past four seasons.

Cyril Baker was the unanimous choice of the meeting for the office of secretary-treasurer, which has been held for the past two years by Pete Salloway. Cyril at one time a prominent player in the league should ably fill the position.

ENTRIES CLOSE APRIL 3

Tuesday, April 3 was the final date for the filing of entries. At the present two of last year's clubs, the Sons of Canada and Eagles, are the only ones planning to enter the league. However, it is expected before the closing date one or possibly two new clubs will decide to enter teams in the senior league.

A letter from the Maritime Players and another from the House of David nine asking for exhibition games here this summer, were received by the secretary. Both communications were laid on the table to be dealt with by the new executive.

President MacFarlane was selected as the local league's delegate to the annual meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Baseball Association to be held in Vancouver, on March 10.

Officers elected for the year were as follows: Honorary president, Mayor J. Carl Pender; honorary first vice-president, Alderman James Adam; honorary second vice-president, Alderman Robert Dewar; president, Dave MacFarlane; vice-president, L. O. Oliphant; secretary-treasurer, Cyril Baker; board of governors, Ted Bailey, Walter Lorimer and Ted Bailey; grounds committee, J. Williams, F. B. Richardson, J. Curtis and Matt Hunter.

McLarnin Must Box In Chicago Or Lose Chance, Says Champion

Chicago, March 2.—Sammy Mandell the lightweight champion, spoke his piece last night in the controversy over next Summer's 135-pound title match, declaring that McLarnin might never get another chance at the lightweight honors if he did not accept the one offered now for a contest here next June.

McLarnin has filed a challenge with the New York boxing commission.

The lightweight champion is sure he wants to defend his crown against McLarnin in Chicago, but he isn't so positive he can beat the Coast puncher.

"I won't say I can beat McLarnin," said Sammy, "but I'm sure McLarnin can't beat me. I saw him knock out Kid Kaplan, and, while he can hit, he will be easy to land on. He's only a challenger, and if he wants this chance at the title, he will have to come to Chicago."

effective and certainly more satisfactory to all concerned, and for this reason I would suggest a public meeting be held to which all fans interested in the advancement of the game, together with any of the Aldermen who wished to attend, and the members of the Lower Island Football Council and referees be invited, and at which the different points could be dealt with, and a co-operative effort made to remedy the situation.

Heeney Does Not Think Very Much Of Delaney As A Puncher Or Boxer

New York, March 2.—Tom Heeney thinks he surely must have busted the bubble of Jack Delaney's vaunted clouting prowess in his fifteen-round victory last night over the former king of the light heavyweights.

"Why he's not one-third the puncher they said he was," Tom announced in his dressing-room while the foam from a bottle of British ale, prescribed for medicinal purposes, trickled down his chin, as he sighted along the container.

"It was a terrible scramble," he said mournfully, "and must have been awful to watch. It takes two to make a fight and he held me at every turn. My forearms are numb from banging into his elbows."

Main event ten rounds for British Columbia junior-lightweight championship: Dave Lewis, Victoria, vs. Wing Hay, For Alberti.

RIGHT HAND USELESS

While Heeney plowed to close quarters, his head buried in his broad, hairy chest, the right hand that made his boxing king of the 175-pounders was virtually useless. The woodman with the flashing black eyes was forced to depend almost entirely on a left hook, swung incessantly to head and body, and which the burly Anzac had little or no defence.

While Heeney fought the kind of a battle that could be told in the first round and then repeated fourteen times to take in the entire night, Delaney furnished the high spots. All told, Delaney had a margin in six of the rounds, while Heeney gathered in eight, and one was even.

THE HIGHEST POINT

Perhaps the highest point in the encounter came in the eighth round, when Delaney, battling with new vigor and abandon, crashed a left hook to the sturdy chin of the New Zealander.

For the first time in the fight Heeney, despite his twenty-pound weight advantage, wavered under the impact of the blow, and was glad to clinch.

As he did, Delaney cut loose with all the fierce punching ability hidden in his majestic shoulders, and in a hail of leather, raining in from all directions, beat Tom's head. But that solid chin took it all, bored into his chest when the game became too great, and the round ended Delaney's opportunity.

USED WEIGHT TO ADVANTAGE

About once Delaney was a picture of bronze majesty as he danced from his corner and dug a solid left hook into Heeney's body. Heeney drove Delaney into the ropes with a volley of rights and lefts to the head. As they wrestled away, Heeney threw his whole weight on Delaney and nearly wrestled him to the floor. Heeney piled in with a solid right to the head, but Delaney cracked him full on the chin with a right uppercut. Heeney belted a left and right to Delaney's body and the Bridgeport warrior hung on tightly. Heeney was using his weight to great advantage, driving close through Delaney's guard to smash the French-Canadian about the head. They were swapping clouts freely, both hands flashing to the head and body at the bell.

Round two—Heeney's bull-like aggressiveness never slackened. He tore and slashed at Delaney's body, but Jack nearly upset him with two cracking left hooks to the chin. Tom never batted an eyelash, flailing right back at the brow body of the tall and imperious dancing master. They danced in the centre of the ring for a few seconds, and again Delaney lashed a pretty left hook to the chin. The Anzac stormed in with the blow and they slugged like a pair of longhorns. Heeney smashed Delaney's ribs with a solid right and clipped his left twice to the chin before the bell.

HEENY CROWDING

Round three—Delaney began to box his heavy-slugging rival, and did a little better until Heeney's short right charged solidly to chin. Jack cracked two left hooks at Heeney's chin. Tom just bowed his head, and drove Delaney into a corner with a ripping head whack. Tom was relentless, a plunging, swinging fury as Delaney tired and backed into the ropes. Delaney danced out, took a new hold and flashed both hands to Heeney's chin. Delaney lost his mouthpiece as the Dund ended and had to chase around the ring during the minute of rest to get it back.

Round four—Heeney whipped a right to Jack's chin at the bell, but took the short clubs of both hands as he fell into a clinch. The Anzac dug a left hook into Delaney's body that sounded all over the arena. Jack stabbed with his left and Heeney bounded far back for their danger. Delaney cocked his mighty right. Heeney tore right back and they smashed a short range to each other's head. They were still pounding in close quarters when the bell rang.

DELANEY BADLY CUFFED

Round five—Tom wheeled in again, but looked extremely foolish as Delaney jarred him off his balance with a left and cuffed him around the ring. Tom roared and wrestled to an advantage.

Colwood

Colwood, March 2.—One of the most successful dances ever held in Colwood took place Wednesday evening. A revival of the old-time Scotch steps. The lancers, schottische, polkas, round and square dances were the order of the evening. Between 250 and 300 persons attended.

The Misses Nancy and Jean McLean danced the sword and Dutch dances, and the Highland fling with grace and charm.

Excellent music was supplied by Mackie's orchestra, and the pipers, Mr. Campbell of Duncan and Mr. Stewart of Victoria, were well received. The duties of master of ceremonies were ably handled by Mr. Noble.

The decorations of the hall had been attractively arranged, the committee in charge composed of Miss Adrienne Murray, Mrs. A. Hughes, Messrs. Parker

WEED LEGISLATION DROPPED IN HOUSE

Drastic new legislation designed to curb the growth of the noxious weed in British Columbia was withdrawn in the Legislature yesterday by Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture. He said that the bill he dropped and the House agreed without argument. The bill as proposed would have forced municipalities to appoint inspectors to enforce regulations against weeds.

The BENSON MURDER CASE

BY S. S. VAN DINE • CHARLES SCHLESINGER

Vance: What did he say then?
Boy: Nothin' much. He told me not to ring his bell, no matter who called up. He said he wanted to sleep, and didn't want to be woken up.
Vance: Was he emphatic about it?
Boy: Well, he meant it, all right.
Vance: Did he say anything else?
Boy: No. He just said good-night and turned out the light, and I came on downstairs.
Vance: What light did he turn out?
Boy: The one in his bedroom.
Vance: Could you see into his bedroom from the parlor?
Boy: No. The bedroom's off the hall.
Vance: How could you tell the light was turned off then?
Boy: The bedroom door was open, and the light was shinin' into the hall.
Vance: Did you pass the bedroom door when you went out?
Boy: Sure—you have to.
Vance: And was the door still open?
Boy: Yes.
Vance: Is that the only door to the bedroom?
Boy: Yes.
Vance: Where was Major Benson when you entered the apartment?
Boy: In bed.
Vance: How do you know?
Boy: (mildly indignant) I saw him. Vance (after pause): You're quite sure he didn't come downstairs again?
Boy: I told you I'd've seen him if he had.
Vance: Couldn't he have walked down at some time when you had the elevator upstairs, without you seeing him?
Boy: Sure, he could. But I didn't take the elevator up after I'd round up the Major for him. I went round 2:30 when Mr. Montagu came in.
Vance: You took no one up in the elevator, then, between the time you brought Major Benson the tea and when Mr. Montagu came in at 2:30?
Boy: Nobody.
Vance: And you didn't leave the hall between those hours?
Boy: No. I was sittin' here all the time.
Vance: Then the last time you saw him was in bed at 12:30?
Boy: Yes—until early in the morning when some dame phoned him and said his brother had been murdered. He came down and went out about ten minutes after.

Vance (giving the boy a dollar): That's all, but don't you open your mouth to anyone about our being here, or you may find yourself in the lock-up—understand? Now, get back to your job.
CHAPTER LIV
When the boy had left us, Vance turned a pleading gaze upon Markham.
"Now, old man, for the protection of society, and the highest demands of justice, and the greatest good for the greatest number, and pro bono publico, and that sort of thing, you must once more adopt a course of conduct in accordance with your innate promptings—or whatever the phrase you used. Vulgarly put, I want to snoop through the Major's apartment at once."
"That's what I'm afraid of," said the boy, looking at Vance with a mixture of one of exclamatory protest. "There's no getting round your sense. There's no getting round the boy's testimony. I may be a witness like that is telling the truth."
"Certainly he's telling the truth," agreed Vance serenely. "That's just why I want to go up—come, my Markham. There's no danger of the Major returning on surprise at this hour. And—he smiled cajolingly—"you promised me every assistance, don't you know?"
Markham was vehement in his remonstrances, but Vance was equally vehement in his insistence; but a few minutes later we were trespassing by means of a pass-key, in Major Benson's apartment.
The only entrance was a door leading from the public hall into a narrow passage which extended straight ahead into the living-room at the rear. On the right of this passage-way, near the entrance, was a door opening into the bedroom.
Vance walked directly back into the living-room. On the right-hand wall was a fireplace and a mantel on which sat an old-fashioned mahogany clock. Near the mantel, in the far corner, stood a small table containing a silver ice-water service consisting of a pitcher and six goblets.
"There is our very convenient clock," said Vance. "And there is the pitcher in which the boy put the ice—imitation Sheffield plate."
Sheffield plate?
Going to the window he glanced down into the paved rear court twenty-five of thirty feet below.
"The Major certainly couldn't have escaped through the window," he remarked.
He turned and stood a moment looking into the passage-way.
"The boy could easily have seen the light go out in the bedroom, if the door was open. The reflection on the glazed white wall of the passage would have been quite brilliant."

Then, retracing his steps, he entered the bedroom. It contained a small canopied bed facing the door, and beside it stood a night-table on which was an electric lamp.
Sitting down on the edge of the bed, he looked about him, and turned the lamp on and off by the socket-chain. Presently he fixed his eyes on Markham.
"You see how the Major got out without the boy's knowing it—eh, what?"
By levitation, I suppose," submitted Markham.
"It amounted to that, at any rate," replied Vance. "Deuced ingenious, too. Listen, Markham—A half past twelve the Major rang for cracked ice. The boy brought it, and when he entered he looked in through the door which was open, and saw the Major in bed."
The Major told him to put the ice in the pitcher in the living-room. The boy walked on down the passage and across the living-room to the table in the corner. The Major then called to him to learn the time by the clock on the mantel. The boy looked: it was half past twelve.
"The Major replied that he was not to be disturbed again, and good-night turned out the light on his way out. Could not have seen whether the Major was still in bed or not, even if he had looked in, for the room was then in darkness. The thing would have been possible, of course," conceded Markham. "But your specious imaginings fall to account for his return."
That was the worst part of the scheme. He probably waited in a doorway across the street for some other tenant to go in. The boy said a Mr. Montagu returned about 2:30. Then the Major slipped in when the elevator had ascended, and walked up the stairs.
Markham, smiling patiently, said nothing.
"You perceived," continued Vance, "the pains taken by the Major to establish the date and the hour, and to impress them on the boy's mind. Poor show—headache—unlucky day. Why unlucky? To thirteen? To be sure. But lucky for the boy. A handful of money—all silver. Singular way of tipping, what? But a dollar bill might have been lost, and I don't know. A shadow clouded Markham's face, but his voice was as indulgently impersonal as ever.

"I prefer your case against Mrs. Plets."
"Ah, but I've not finished," Vance stood up. "I have hopes of finding the weapon, don't you know?"
Markham now studied him with anxious interest.
"That, of course, would be a contributory factor. . . . You really expect to find it?"
"Without the slightest difficulty," Vance pleasantly assured him.
He went to the chiffonier and began opening the drawers.
"Our absent host didn't leave the pistol in his pocket, and he was far too canny to throw it away. Being a man in the late war, he'd be expected to have such a weapon; in fact, several persons may actually have known he possessed one."
"And if he is innocent—as he fully expects us to assume—why shouldn't it be in its usual place? Its absence, if we see, would be more incriminating than its presence."
"Also, there's a most interesting psychological factor involved. An innocent person who was afraid of being found guilty, would have hidden it, or thrown it away—like Captain Leacock, for example. But a guilty man, wishing to create an appearance of innocence, would have put it back exactly where it was before the shooting."
He was still searching through the chiffonier.
"Our only problem, then, is to discover the likely place. . . . It's not here in the chiffonier," he added, closing the last drawer.
He opened a kit-bag standing at the foot of the bed, and rifled its contents.
"Nor here," he murmured indifferently. "The clothes-closet is the only other likely place."
Going across the room, he opened the closet door. Unhurriedly he switched on the light. There, on the upper shelf, in plain view, lay an army belt with a bulging holster.
Vance lifted it with extreme delicacy and placed it on the bed near the window.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. MARY ELDER

Mrs. Elder will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this column will receive a prompt reply.

RELATION OF NERVES TO WEIGHT

Mrs. F. D. writes:
"Don't you think parents are often thoughtless regarding their children? We hear about children's duty to their parents and few remember that parents have duties and responsibilities toward their children. I am accused of being too considerate of my youngest child. I know lots of parents who take their children out at night, as if children weren't worth the sacrifice of sleep. And children are often put second to housework. On a beautiful day I take my child out, if the house doesn't get dusted."
"How would you handle the case of a small boy who bit my little girl's cheek and did not seem aware of being bad?"
"My niece is so thin and nervous. She is three years old and only weighs twenty-nine pounds. She wears herself out with useless motions and tires so quickly. Our baby, thanks to your feeding leaflet, weighs thirty-seven pounds and is so sweet and reasonable and easy to manage. Are some children more stubborn than others?"
ANSWER
I agree with your contentions, for children should come before housework and personal pleasures always. But I do think that the modern, intelligent parent is well aware of this and as a reaction to the old domineering method of child-rearing, tends to over-emphasize the child in the home. I believe the child is the most important thing in the home, but he should not be made aware of his own importance. The small boy can be made to bite his own hand, and he will discover that it is not so pleasant. He needs some lessons in understanding and sympathy for others. Keeping a pet of some sort will help him in learning this lesson. He is not vicious, just lacks understanding of the feelings of others. The underweight child is always over-active, irritable and nervous. Her under-padded body needs more fat and the way to help her nervousness is to correct her diet so as to put on more weight. Insist on more rest, so as to conserve her energies and to improve her appetite. Children have to be managed in various ways. Stubborn children may be made more pliant by unintelligent treatment. The tactful parent avoids situations in which she pits her strength against the child's and allows for such exhibitions as stubbornness.

Says Insurance Superintendent Too Obstinate

Interference by the Superintendent of Insurance in the operations of insurance agents was alleged in the Legislature Thursday by H. D. Twigg, Conservative, of Victoria, who said he could get general support for his views among insurance men. He blamed the superintendent for his distortion of the insurance laws of the Province by forcing insurance men to give him information about their business to which he was not entitled.
"It's just a piece of pure inquisitiveness," Mr. Twigg said, referring to the questions asked by the Superintendent of all agents. He urged Attorney-General Manson to remedy the matter.
Mr. Manson said he had not heard these complaints before, and would look into them.
During further discussion on new Insurance Act amendments Mr. Manson explained that they are purely technical in character and designed to make the insurance laws here uniform with the laws of other provinces. He stated that he was investigating the complaint of insurance agents in country districts that they are not allowed as high commissions as those in cities. The new amendments received according reading.

shoe, crush, shawl effects and upstanding tailored styles share honors with the novelties and are shown with bound edges of faille or plain with neat trimmings. Choice of various shades of Kasha and lined with crepe de Chine.

Spring Styles Still Favor Felt

Felt hats are still the popular style for utility wear, but with new ideas introduced. Sometimes the Spring touch is given by a straw crown with felt brim, or vice versa, or by bands of straw blending with the color of the hat, or contrasting. There are very becoming effects in both droop and flare-up brims and snug-fitting crowns. But it is in becoming colors that these hats are so desirable.
There is such a range of choice, and the shades are so subtly blended, that you cannot fail to find those that suit you personally. Choose from honey beige, wood violet, Grecian rose, posy-green, Castilian red, oak brown, Kasha beige and black. Prices,

REV. R. G. MacBETH

FOR MODERATOR

Well-known Preacher and Author is Nominated

The Presbytery of Victoria, which met in St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday and Wednesday, concluded its business Wednesday. The statistical report shows a membership of 1,200 and Sunday School enrolment of 1,630, with 109 teachers and officers.

Rev. R. G. MacBeth, M.A., D.D., the well-known preacher and author, was nominated for moderator of the General Assembly, Rev. Samuel Lundie, B.A., Rev. J. S. Patterson, Col. James Scroggie and W. A. Jamieson, were appointed commissioners to the General Assembly which will meet in the new Knox Church, Regina, next June.

The givings for the year were $25,000. The allotment for the current year for the missionary work of the church is $5,000. This amount is spread over the different congregations. The Presbytery urges upon all congregations to take a deeper interest in the missionary undertakings of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

In support of the biennial meetings of the General Assembly, Thomas Humphreys asserted that inasmuch as all the committees of the church were well organized they could function equally well for two years as for one. Moreover, he said, a large sum of money that now goes to the transportation companies would be saved and could be used to better advantage in other ways.

Rev. T. H. Davies, of Knox Church, stated that all values were not of a monetary character and maintained that the interest aroused in the inspiration received by those in attendance year by year, far outweighed the saving in traveling expenses. The Presbytery went on record as favoring the annual meeting.

A decided stand was taken against any change in the present constitution of the Board of Administration. Humphreys asserted that inasmuch as all the committees of the church were well organized they could function equally well for two years as for one. New Zealand Leader Here To Study Liquor Methods

Hon. Thomas M. Wilford, leader of the Liberal Party in New Zealand, arrived by the Aorangi on a special mission to study the British Columbia method of handling liquor. Mr. Wilford, during the two hours the boat was in port, had a conference with Premier MacLean, who apprised him of all the details of the liquor control, as followed out by the Liberal Government. Mr. Wilford stated that there was a strong movement in New Zealand toward prohibition. At the referendum held in November, 1925, national prohibition, state purchase and control and national prohibition without compensation were submitted to the electors. As in the two previous referenda in 1919 and 1922, none of the three issues secured in 1925 the requisite minimum of half the total votes cast, and national prohibition is deemed to have been carried. The voting was 299,590; prohibition, 319,450.

Victoria Shows Enthusiasm Over Canadian Premiere of Martin-Harvey's "Lyons Mail"

Sir Henry Irving's famed thriller, "The Lyons Mail," was given its Canadian premiere by Sir John Martin Harvey at the Royal Victoria Theatre last night. It was in this play that Sir John, as a young man, played the servant of a nobleman, who was killed by a highwayman. The play is a masterpiece of the original costumes used in Sir Henry Irving's production are now being used here by the Martin-Harvey company.

Sir John had great success with this colorful eighteenth century drama of Charles Reade, when he played it in England before coming to Canada last fall. He will play it exclusively on his way East through Canada during the next couple of months. Those in last night's audience got such a "kick" out of the production that although the three-hour performance did not conclude until about 11.15 o'clock, they remained to give Sir John nine curtain calls and forced him to make a short speech before they would break up.

The dual role of Joseph Lesurques, a Parisian merchant, and of Dubouché, captain of a robber gang, as played by Sir John is a stage triumph. The characters are poles apart, and the actor has to alternate lightly between the two all through the play.

Playing Jeannette last night was the sister of Sir John, Miss Mary Gray. In his current speech, Sir John thanked the audience for its appreciation in the face of the many difficulties the company had to contend with during the first production of the play. He apologized for the absence of Lady Martin-Harvey, who goes under the stage name of Miss N. de Silva, but added that "in Miss Mary Gray we had a most charming substitute."

All the members of the large company gave their characteristically accomplished performances.

FINE PROGRAMME FOR BIG ICE FROLIC THIS EVENING

Many Novelty Events to Be Seen at Affair Staged Under Auspices of Junior Chamber of Commerce; Fancy Skaters From Vancouver Will Feature Programme; First Event to Start at 8.15 o'clock

With final arrangements now complete the big ice frolic will be staged at the Willows Arena to-night under the joint auspices of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce and other athletic organizations. The carnival will get under way at 8.15 o'clock and, with the fine programme of events arranged, a large attendance is anticipated.

The proceeds from the frolic will be devoted entirely to the improvement of athletic grounds in the city.

Several last minute features have been added to the programme, according to the fact that the credit of the Province and not actual cash had been put into the fund.

He wished to say that there was actually more than $1,000,000 in the bank to the credit of the fund at the present time. It was intended to invest this in maturing short term securities.

"Since when has the money been in the bank?" asked H. D. Twigg, Conservative, of Victoria.

The Minister did not answer the question, and the Victoria member went on to exclaim: "The Auditor-General told us that the Public Accounts Committee the other day that it was not there!"

"Never mind, it's there now," said Mr. Pattullo. "There's a million dollars maturing on April 1 and so intend to invest a million of the superannuation fund in it."

FINAL PLANS FOR BICYCLE PARADE

Safety First Demonstration to Start From Y.M.C.A. To-morrow at 10 o'clock

Assurances from Chief of Police John Fry yesterday that all would be in readiness for the cycle riders of the city which they reach Beacon Hill Park to-morrow morning for the Safety First demonstration and competitive events, marked the completion of the final arrangements for the event. It is expected a great number of boys and girls will be on hand when the programme starts at 10 o'clock to join in the parade from the Y.M.C.A. Building on Blanshard St.

It is planned to have all the activities in front of the Burns monument. There will be over twenty prizes for riders with decorated bicycles, winners in the scooter race and plank riding contest, while an added prize is announced for the oldest rider in the parade.

A special demonstration for Scouts will show how to ride a wheel to obtain the cycling badge for merit.

Schools of the city are expected to compete in numbers for the C.C.M. Trophy Cup. A scooter race at 5 o'clock open to all youngsters up to twelve years old will be an amusing event and three prizes will be given to the winners. The big stunt of the day will be the plank riding contest open to all riders. The board will be only five inches wide and 150 feet long and it lays on the ground. This number is safe for the youngest rider and the contest is open to all riders.

The present record for plank riding may be exceeded here to-morrow.

All that is needed to get in the parade and events is to have a bicycle and ride it. The following route has been selected for the parade. Start at Y.M.C.A. on Blanshard St. to Yates St. to Douglas St. to Herald St. to Government St. to Superior St. to Douglas St. to Burns monument in Beacon Hill Park.

Many handsome prizes will be awarded.

BIGGER DEPOSIT FOR TRADING TRADERS URGED

Chamber Directors Endorse Recommendation of Retail Merchants

A recommendation from the retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce that the directors should urge the City Council to support a proposal to collect a deposit of $500 from transient traders here was approved by directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to-day.

The retail executive reported success in sponsoring a recommendation to the municipal committee of the Legislature giving power to municipalities to collect the deposit, which is returnable after a certain period when the newcomer shall have become a permanent business enterprise.

The directors went on record as being opposed to the traders' bill on recommendation of the legislative committee.

CITY LOGICAL AIRPORT, SAYS FLYING EXPERT

Sidney Pickles Enlists Chamber of Commerce Support in Campaign

Declaring that Victoria had a great future in sight in the direction of development as an air port, Sydney Pickles, A.F.A.S., spoke at a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce to-day.

There were, he said, many reasons why Victoria should be Canada's greatest airport on the Pacific Coast, and there was an ideal stretch of land at Cudbory Bay for landing fields and aerodrome sites.

Mr. Pickles asserted that the opportunity was a big one, and that business men should not treat it lightly, but work for its attainment.

PEERS INTO FUTURE

Within a short time, he said, air liners would be traveling at 200 miles an hour and maintaining fast mail and passenger connections all over the world.

Mr. Pickles had in mind certain properties just outside the city boundaries which he considered ideal for an aviation field, he said.

R. H. B. Ker-urged that a strong committee be formed here immediately to recommend and work for the erection of an airship mooring mast in Victoria. Climatic conditions made it reasonable to expect that this city would be the choice of aviation experts when planning flying fields, but its advantages needed to be advertised, he said.

C. P. J. W. Schwenger was asked to appoint a special committee to investigate the possibilities of airship mooring and the development of commercial flying where Victoria's interests were concerned.

The committee will immediately communicate with Ottawa to discover what the Dominion Government's policy in the aviation field may be.

TEA POSTPONED

The tea which was to be given by Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith, M.P.P., in the Speaker's Chamber to-morrow afternoon has been postponed owing to the death of Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines.

OBITUARY

The funeral of Charles Henry Makepeace, who passed away at the family residence, Wascana Street, on Monday last, was held yesterday afternoon from the Thompson Funeral Home, Quadra Street. A large number of friends attended the service, and the beautiful floral offerings which covered the casket and hearse testified to the esteem in which Mr. Makepeace was held by his friends.

MARKET PLANS HELD UP ON NEW POINT OF ORDER

New Legislation Starts
Rough Passage as Procedure is Protested

That proposed amendments to the Market Control Act will have a stormy passage through the Legislature was indicated when the bill was challenged upon its second reading yesterday by Ian A. Mackenzie, Vancouver member, who protested against the manner of its introduction, and sought to force it back to a committee of the whole House for reintroduction. He raised points of order upon the reading of the bill, and pressed them with such vigor that Mr. Speaker Buckham reserved his decision in order to consult authorities.

TOUCHING REFERENCES TO LATE MINISTER MADE IN ADDRESSES IN HOUSE

As soon as the House assembled this afternoon, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Provincial Secretary, acting in the absence of Premier MacLean, who is confined to his home, placed on record the sorrow of the Government at the passing of one of its chief figures. Mr. Pattullo moved and R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, seconded the following resolution.

"That this House express its deep sense of the loss sustained in the death of the Honorable William Sloan, Minister of Mines, and Commissioner of Fisheries, a member of this House for over eleven years, and the representative of the people of the constituency of Nanaimo; a man, indeed a friend, worthy of the confidence reposed in him by all who knew him;

"That this House express its condolence and sincere sympathy with Mrs. Sloan and the members of the bereaved family;

"And that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Mrs. Sloan."

Speaking of Mr. Sloan, Mr. Pattullo said:

"Mr. Speaker: Since this House adjourned yesterday afternoon, one of our members has been taken away. While it was known that he was ailing for some time, yet he sat here yesterday afternoon and his death comes as a great shock to us all."

"From time to time, we are reminded in this House that life is indeed fleeting. As members of this Legislature, we sit in this House making laws, and though there are mysterious laws which we do not understand, we do know that there is an immutable law that mortal must take on the immortal."

"I feel the death of our late colleague, Mr. Sloan, more keenly, perhaps, because of early associations. I met him first on the Yukon trail in the early days of the Klondike gold excitement, and for the past twelve years have been associated with him in the government of this Province."

"The late Mr. Sloan was fortunate in his mining ventures in the Yukon, and in a very short period he amassed a considerable fortune and returned to the city of Nanaimo. Shortly afterwards he entered political life, in which he had been prominent ever since. For a number of years, he sat as a Dominion member, and only retired to give a place to the late Mr. Templeman, who was at that time minister in the Laurier Government, but had been defeated in Victoria."

"In 1916, Mr. Sloan entered the provincial field, was elected for the constituency of Nanaimo, and became a member of the administration which came into office at that time. Until yesterday, Mr. Sloan was a senior member of the Government, which came into office in 1916. There are now just two members of the present Government who were members of the administration he led."

"In the political arena, Mr. Sloan was always a forceful character. By reason of his keenness of perception, and soundness of judgment, and his advice was always sought by those in the Government."

"It was my pleasure and my privilege to know Billy well—to count him a close friend whatever our differences in political affairs. His unerring sportsmanship, his zest for life, his kindliness of outlook, his adventurous spirit, and his sense of humor, all appealed to me as such qualities while the world lasts must appeal to all."

"I shall remember him ever as an example of the true sportsmanship and a friend of all honest sport. We shall remember him always as a friend and a comrade in the life of a man who scorned to fold. History will remember him as a constructive pioneer who made his mark on his times indelibly. I wish that I could voice all that is to-day in my heart. Words are such feeble things. I would I could convey to you, Mr. Speaker, how real is the grief that grips this side at the passing of one who in his life wrought well and steadfastly to make this world a kinder place to live in, and who left his life's gift for ever to the world."

MANSON'S TRIBUTE

Following Mr. Pooley, Attorney-General Manson said:

"Mr. Speaker, there is nothing certain in man's life but this—that he must lose it. Death comes to all; his cold and ashen hand waves o'er the world and beckons us away. Who shall resist the summons?"

"The Grim Reaper indeed takes a heavy toll. This House and the Ministry have felt his hand often during the last few years. Two Premiers—the late Mr. Brewster and the late Mr. Oliver; two Ministers—the late Mr. Smith and now our colleague of yesterday, have passed since the formation of this Government eleven years ago. Many members of the House, too, have crossed the Great Divide."

"I only want to add my few words of tribute to those already so well spoken of by our dear Minister."

"Mr. Sloan had in an unusual measure those attributes that fitted him for life in this pioneer Province. He was a true frontiersman, ever ready to mix with his fellowmen. He played his part in the development of our country. His outstanding attribute was his ability to make friends. He made them and he kept them, and even in the stress of life over a quarter of a century of public life his friendships among political opponents were as firm as his own."

"From a nervous, weakened, 'all in' condition, to a feeling of youthful health and activity in three weeks' time. That's the remarkable experience of this man, a business man who says, 'The new Erba discovery has certainly been worth a million to me, and I cannot express too many thanks for it.' At 51, I seemed pretty much 'all in' and had felt badly for several years—now, thanks to Erba, I feel like a boy again!"

"The treatment mentioned above has won the highest praise from those who have used it to ward off a feeling of weakness, lack of ambition and vigor, and the signs of approaching age. Put up in tablets, plainly wrapped and convenient for easy home use, Dr. Erba's Erba comes in sealed packets containing a 20-day supply."

"For the convenience and benefit of men and women in this locality, who have never had a chance to try Dr. Erba's Erba, local druggists have been furnished with the regular 20-day treatment to supply to those who wish to try it. Results, in all instances, must be completely satisfactory or purchase price will be refunded to the user. (Ad.)" his political friends, while his political opponents knew that he must be reckoned with.

ABLE ADMINISTRATION

"As an administrator, the late Mr. Sloan was painstaking and thorough, and he would not be satisfied until he had complete mastery of any matter which he undertook."

"In private life, he possessed a genial and generous disposition, which made him a host of friends. Anyone who has had the opportunity to enjoy the late Mr. Sloan's hospitality will testify as to his likable character."

"From time to time men of the old guard drop out. We deeply regret their going, and in this instance I am sure that the sympathy of the people of this Province will be extended to the late Mr. Sloan's family in their bereavement."

POOLEY'S TRIBUTE

"It is hard indeed, Mr. Speaker, to address myself to the subject of this resolution. It is hard for me to realize that my friend—the friend of everyone who knew him—is no more."

"It is hard for us to realize he has gone—that death has so quickly snatched from us one we believe that the worthy opponent who never could be an enemy, political or personal, will never again shake that leaning white hair and friendly smile."

"He disarmed us on this side of the chamber with that whimsical smile of his that melted rancor and stifled the tongue to silence when sometimes the head counselled it to harshness."

"I speak of him who is gone with all sincerity as my friend—a man who inspired respect, commanded admiration, by his fine sportsmanship, his generous impulses, his kindly humanity, his breadth of fine courtesy and generous consideration for others' feelings."

"His propensity to self-sacrifice for party or for friend, and his hesitation and ever without regrets. None ever asked help of Billy Sloan and sought that place now is empty to take of any one a mean, an unsportsmanlike advantage."

"None ever knew our friend whose place now is empty to take of any one a mean, an unsportsmanlike advantage. He played the game of life as a day adventurer, mindful ever and intuitively of the spirit of the bigger unwritten rules of chivalry—the ethics of Nature's gentlemen."

"Yesterday he was with us here. To-day he sleeps. God gives us the memory of him that will be as roses in the December of our years."

WERE CLOSE FRIENDS

"It was my pleasure and my privilege to know Billy well—to count him a close friend whatever our differences in political affairs. His unerring sportsmanship, his zest for life, his kindliness of outlook, his adventurous spirit, and his sense of humor, all appealed to me as such qualities while the world lasts must appeal to all."

conspicuous as among his political allies. He was a splendid administrator in charge of important departments of the public service. As Minister of Mines, himself a practical miner, he brought to that department unusual executive ability, and he gave to it in the course of the eleven years in which he administered it a reputation for solidary and soundly that has meant much to our Province. The representative of a mining area, the city of Nanaimo, he had the confidence of his constituents in a very marked degree. The reason was that he was the friend of the humblest miner and his family. This House will miss him. His colleagues will miss him. His friends will miss him. We shall see his genial smile no more, nor again have the pleasure of his kindly and warm handshake. We shall remember him. May God rest his soul in peace.

Mr. Pattullo's resolution was passed by a standing vote and the House then adjourned.

SESSION SUSPENDS WORK AS MARK OF RESPECT TO LATE MINISTER OF MINES

Prospector, Yukon pioneer, traveler, woodsman, public man and finally a leading figure in the Government of British Columbia, Mr. Sloan lived a life of varied experience. In the last few years he had become one of the most influential public men in provincial politics. His influence in the Government was the quiet kind, but friend and foe recognized his right to the title, "The Wise Man of the Government."

The late Minister was on terms of unusual friendship with his political enemies. With the rank and file of the Legislature he was on terms of the most popular member of the Cabinet. This was probably due to his treatment of members of all sides with a bluff frankness and a sense of humor which was reflected in the nickname of "Billy," was invariably used by everyone in the House in addressing the Nanaimo member.

BORN IN EAST

While a thorough Westerner in his outlook, Mr. Sloan was born in Wingham, Ont., on September 19, 1867, the son of John Sloan and Elizabeth McMichael, both of whom were Scotch. He was educated at the public schools and Collegiate Institute of Searsville, Ont., while still a youth accompanied his father to Shanghai, China, where he spent two years in the Customs Service. On his return to British Columbia in 1887 he lived in Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo, and was married in 1891 to Flora M. Grahame, deceased. In Nanaimo he entered the mercantile field under the firm name of Sloan & Scott, a partnership which lasted five years.

WENT TO YUKON

After he had been in Nanaimo some years tales of gold in the Klondike stirred the young man's imagination and led to the most picturesque phase of a picturesque career. When the Klondike fever was at its height, Mr. Sloan, then a young man, accompanied his father to the Klondike on his northward trip in the Spring of 1896 he picked up four prospectors bound for the then unknown Yukon. This was before Skagway and Dawson were on the map and the wealth of the North was still to be discovered. The little party was composed of Mr. Sloan, Thomas Frank, William Rogers and John W. Wilkinson, well-known old-timers.

Through the Arctic Summer they searched in vain for gold until one day in the Fall they found themselves among the first prospectors to wash the priceless gravel of Eldorado Creek. Mr. Sloan's shaft was the first to reach bedrock, the future Minister of Mines working feverishly to lift the first bucket of pay dirt ever hoisted from the famous gold stream.

STARTED BIG RUSH

When news of these discoveries reached the outside world they resulted in the historic rush of '96. While old ventures from all over the world scrambled for the wealth of the Yukon, Mr. Sloan returned to civilization, his pockets bulging with gold dust. Reports of the riches uncovered by him and his companions served to stimulate early interest in the Klondike into a world-wide excitement.

He arrived in Seattle on the famous old gold ship Portland, and walked up the wharf with a satchel in which was $100,000 in gold, gathered with his own hands. With him were thirty-seven other adventurers who had struck it rich and were carrying their wealth with them.

Mr. Sloan's return to Nanaimo with his companions was the occasion of a community celebration in honor of the Nanaimo townsman who had made himself rich almost overnight in the fabled northern wilds.

ENTERED POLITICS

Turning his attention to politics, Mr. Sloan ran for the House of Commons in Vancouver in 1900, but his first entry into public life was a failure. Three years later, in the general election of 1904, he ran for Comox-Atlin, and was elected and was returned by acclamation for the same seat in the fall of 1908. During his term at Comox-Atlin he was elected to the Yukon, and was regarded as one of the best of the Yukon's chief supporters from that time.

In the 1908 contest Hon. William Templeman, then Minister of Inland Revenue, was defeated in his seat of Victoria, and at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's request Mr. Sloan resigned his constituency in favor of Mr. Templeman, who was promptly returned to the Commons.

TURNED TO PROVINCE

Mr. Sloan soon turned his attention to provincial politics, and was one of the chief organizers of the Liberal movement which swept the Conservative Government out of power in the election of 1916. He ran for Nanaimo in that poll and was elected to become shortly afterwards Minister of Mines in the Cabinet of the late Premier Brewster. When he appealed to his constituents in the following year, he was returned by acclamation.

On the death of Mr. Brewster and the choice of Premier Oliver as his successor, Mr. Sloan was sworn in again as Minister of Mines in March, 1917, and a few days later took over the position of Commissioner of Fisheries, which in effect is a portfolio.

In the election of 1920 Mr. Sloan was returned to Nanaimo, and the next general poll of 1924 he was elected with an increased majority. After this poll Mr. Sloan added the Provincial Secretary's portfolio to his other duties. He continued to fill the position of Minister of Mines, Provincial Secretary and Commissioner of Fisheries until recent years, when he was forced to relinquish the position of Provincial Secretary to Hon. T. D. Pattullo.

Mr. Sloan was a successful administrator. His department worked smoothly and was seldom under the place of the public spotlight. His term of office was noteworthy for his drastic remodeling of mining laws to protect men engaged in mining and to preserve the public from fake mining promotion. His proudest achievement was the improvement of safety in the coal mines of the Province until they are now considered the safest in the world. A practical miner himself, the Minister frequently inspected the mines personally to assure himself of their safety, and he was in close touch with all mineral development in the Province.

MINING SUCCESS

Mr. Sloan's regime in the Mines Department saw the mineral industry of this Province become one of the most important in Canada. He saw the annual mineral output reach the enormous figure of $67,188,842, the highest on record, almost twice the output of 1920 and three times the 1910 figure.

The success of mineral operations was due in no small measure to his administration, for he gave the industry stability in legislation and progressive measures to open up new mineral fields. While stimulating mining operations Mr. Sloan took vigorous measures to protect the investing public, and the old era of "wild catting" soon passed when he took charge of the Mines Department.

FISHERY SUCCESS

While mining matters were always Mr. Sloan's most absorbing interest, he gave the Province the most aggressive and successful fishery administration it has ever had. Immediately on making over the Fisheries Department he launched a campaign for the preservation of the Province's fish resources, and carried it on until his death with unrelenting vigor.

While many people still thought him an alarmist he warned the Province yearly ago that only drastic measures could save the salmon fisheries from exhaustion, and year in and year out he reiterated this warning until at last the whole country was roused through his efforts. His memoranda on the fisheries' situation form the most reliable and complete information available on the subject.

He lived to see Canada as a whole turn its attention in earnest to the fishery problems of this Coast and to witness also the success of his work in urging the formation of an international commission to investigate the depletion of Pacific halibut. To J. P. Babcock, Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries and chief Canadian expert on Pacific fish, Mr. Sloan gave consistent and vigorous support at all times.

IMPROVED INSTITUTIONS

During his term as Minister of the Provincial Secretary's Department Mr. Sloan turned his restless energy into additional channels. Assuming control of the leading Government institutions he gave them efficient and forward-looking administration, until they became models for the entire British Columbia campaign to curb the growth of insanity, and as a result of his efforts a royal commission was appointed to investigate the whole problem. It is about to make a report to the Legislature now.

As Provincial Secretary Mr. Sloan continued to carry on his life-long effort to institute old-age pensions in Canada. After advocating this reform for many years he saw it introduced in his own Province last year, for the first time in Canada.

Falling health forced Mr. Sloan to hand over the administration of the Provincial Secretary's Department to Mr. Pattullo last Summer, and he finally

ASPIRIN

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try an Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) indicating Bayer Manufacture. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assure the public against imitations, the Tablets will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trademark.

He resigned the portfolio late last year. But to the Mines Department he continued to give his attention. Against the advice of his physicians and the wishes of his family he insisted on attending the present session of the Legislature, and on Wednesday of this week he handled the estimates of his Department in the house personally. His explanation of these matters was fated to be the last of his many notable utterances in the assembly.

Mr. Sloan was twice married. His first wife was Flora McGregor Grahame, whom he married at Nanaimo in 1891. By this marriage there was one son, Gordon McGregor, a promising barrister of Vancouver. Several years after the death of his wife Mr. Sloan married in 1916 Catherine McDougall. There is one son, William McDougall, by this union.

USA TEA

No one dreamed 50 years ago that such a fragrant beverage as "SALADA" Orange Pekoe could be produced pure as science can make it—fresh, superb in flavour—43c per half-pound—and all black tea. A treat indeed for tea lovers.

Men Past 40 Should Read This!

Must Old Age Mean Torment. Annuance, Embarrassment, Worry. Bladder Weakness, Nervousness. Getting-Up-Nights?

It is claimed that 7 out of 10 men near or past middle life are subject to Bladder Weakness, which is neglected, may mean years of suffering and daily annoyance.

First signs of such condition may come in early life, but they are usually more noticeable after 40—pains in back, headache, nervousness, a feeling of weight in groin, itching, burning, painful urination, too frequent calls and getting-up nights.

While simple, it neglected—it is ordinarily a simple matter to relieve these troubles by the pleasant home use of Dr. Southworth's URATABS, which have been victorious in thousands of cases, after other treatments had failed.

No matter how serious or of how long standing your condition may be, you can quickly prove the value of URATABS without risk of cost—for any good druggist will supply you on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or money back. If URATABS bring you quick and certain comfort, you will be greatly pleased. If they do not fully satisfy, you will not cost you nothing. TRY URATABS to-day! (Adv.)

DOUBT ABILITY OF BRITISH NAVY U.S. WISHES NAVY TO GUARD MERCHANT SHIPS, SAYS LECTURER

Professor F. H. Soward Discusses Disarmament Conference at Geneva; Claims Lack of Vision and Lack of Preparation Caused Failure

In the minds of the United States business man, there is a deep distrust in the ability of the British Navy to patrol the seas. In case of another war, the United States expects to be neutral, and she desires a navy strong enough to protect the neutrality of her merchant marine in the opinion of Prof. F. H. Soward, R.A., B. Litt., as expressed in his comments on disarmament during the course of a lecture on "The Present European Situation" at Victoria College last night. The lecture was the first of his series under the University Extension Association.

In speaking on the question of disarmament, Prof. Soward made the statement that if the money which is being spent yearly by the United States in the maintenance of the army and navy, were used for social reform, all the city slums could be cleared away, and every child in the country could be educated. He described the Geneva disarmament conference as a failure, which he attributed to several causes.

In the first place, there was a lack of adequate preparation before the conference, he said. The delegates of the different nations did not know exactly what their governments desired of them.

LACK OF VISION

Another cause of the failure of the conference, he said, was found in the fact that representatives of the different countries were experts in their own particular repartee, but lacked the breadth of vision of politicians.

DISTRUST

One of the greatest forces preventing unity was the lack of open talk between the nations. Each nation was distrustful of the other. And finally, although the United States and England agreed not to wage war on each other, they kept thinking about the possibility of such a conflict, and prepared accordingly. This was shown in the dispute over the building of cruisers. A dispute which was not settled at that time.

To show how beneficial disarmament would be to England, Prof. Soward made the statement that if the United States and England agreed not to wage war on each other, they kept thinking about the possibility of such a conflict, and prepared accordingly. This was shown in the dispute over the building of cruisers. A dispute which was not settled at that time.

DEBT RETIREMENTS

The United States policy with regard to the retirement of debt is another vexing problem, Prof. Soward stated. Despite the fact that sixty per cent of all reparations recovery will go to her, that country has refused to trade with the aggressive nation. This is a great obstacle in the path of the peace-makers, the lecturer said.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 600 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

POSTPONE ANNUAL MEETING OF SAANICH LIBERAL ASSOCIATION

Owing to the sudden passing of the Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, the annual meeting of the Saanich Liberal Association, called for next, has been postponed to a date which will be announced later. This action has been decided on as a mark of respect to one, who died while he was in the Liberal Party, but whose passing will be regretted by all citizens of British Columbia.

He supplemented this by enumerating the plan of Parker Gilbert, Agent-General for Reparations. Mr. Gilbert's idea is to let Germany know exactly what her debt amounts to, and to put an end to foreign intervention in that land.

FRANSES LEAGUE

Prof. Soward praised highly the work of the League of Nations. It was doing much good, he said, in resorting to small nations to a firm economic footing, and had won public confidence by its improvement of European conditions. The League was now composed of all the European powers, and in the Eighth Assembly, which the speaker considered the best yet, it was debating on present questions, toward bringing about co-operation among the different nations. However, he said, the League could only move through the co-operation of all the governments represented in it. And since the governments move through its debates on the various nations to support the League by means of such associations as the League of Nations Societies.

SOURCE OF UNREST

With regard to local problems in Victoria, the lecturer said that the occupation of the Rhineland was a constant source of unrest. Although it was nine years since the end of the war, it was still 60,000 foreign troops in that district. Naturally this caused a great deal of irritation to the German people. Britain and most of the other countries favored the withdrawal of troops from the Rhine, and thought it was time that France led her forces from that land and left the Germans free.

EMMA ALEXANDER HERE FROM SOUTH

C.N.R. Freight Official Is Passenger Aboard California Boat

W. G. Manders, freight traffic manager of the Canadian National Railway at Winnipeg, was a passenger on the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's liner Emma Alexander arriving here last night from California. After a tour of the southern state he is returning to his headquarters, and is expected to stay in Victoria for a few days before proceeding eastward.

The Emma docked at 8:15 p.m. yesterday two hours ahead of schedule, after a fast run up the coast. There were a number of Victoria people on board, returning from the South after the winter. Altogether, sixty-five people left the ship here. Over 100 tons of freight were discharged before the ship proceeded to Seattle.

E. G. McMicken, passenger traffic manager of the Pacific Steamship Company, was a passenger on the steamer, returning from a business trip to California.

Twelve Hours Ahead of Schedule After Smooth Trip

With 437 passengers in all classes, the Canadian-Australasian line motor-ship Aorangi, Commander R. Crawford, R.N.R., docked here last night at 5:45 o'clock from the Antipodes. After discharging cargo and passengers here she sailed at 8:40 o'clock for Vancouver.

The big motor liner made a fast trip up from "down under," and was over twelve hours ahead of schedule arriving here. Commander Crawford reported fairly smooth seas throughout the voyage, the ship suffering no delay due to weather.

The Aorangi's first class list totalled 207 passengers, including several well-known persons. She had 115 second class travelers and 112 third class. About fifty passengers disembarked at this port.

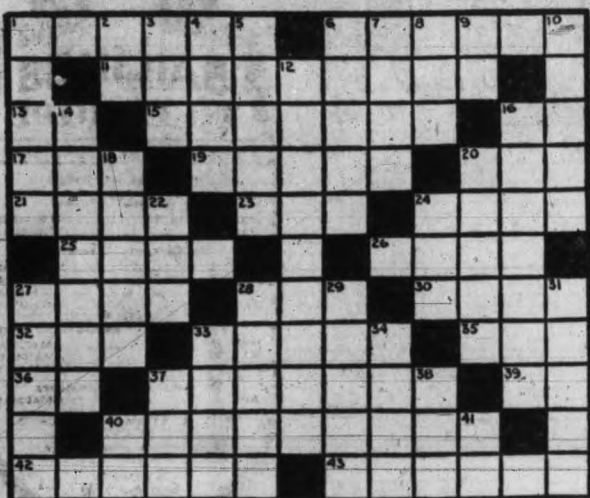

COMPANY HEAD ABOARD

Among the prominent first class passengers were Sir Charles Holdsworth, managing director of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, and Lord Grimthorpe, a partner in Beckett & Co., bankers of Leeds, Eng., returning from a tour of Australia with Lady Grimthorpe, Hon. M. Wilford, prominent New Zealand barrister and member of Parliament, en route to the Old Country with Mrs. Wilford; E. Resch, proprietor of one of the largest Australian breweries at Melbourne, with his wife and family; A. W. Wheeler, assistant general manager of the Union S.S. Co.; W. J. Smith, superintending engineer of the largest Canadian shipbuilding company; G. A. Zandra and E. A. Ratch, Australian theatrical producers, accompanied by their wives; P. D. Ryland, well-known skating expert, with his wife, Mrs. H. L. Topley, Mayor of Dunedin, N.Z.

The Aorangi discharged eighty-two tons of cargo while in port. The greater part being New Zealand butter, her total cargo was 2,551 tons, including over 24,000 boxes of butter from New Zealand, as well as the usual shipments of mutton, wool, hides, skins, hardwood and Hawaiian pineapples.

Over 300 bags of mail were discharged here, including ten bags

To-morrow's Horoscope

SATURDAY, MARCH 3, 1928

Good and evil aspects contend today, according to astrology, which reads in the stars certain menacing signs. Early in the morning brain-workers should benefit and writers should gain facility from the planetary influences. Irritability and nervousness are likely to be accentuated while this rule prevails, so it is wise to beware of argument. Stubbornness and contrariness are supposed to be increased under this direction of the stars and for this reason business partners may have difficulties. Business should benefit from this way, which makes for progress and development. New millionaires will be added to the list so rapidly growing in this country. There is a good sign for those who plan big projects, and all the aspects prease, immense undertakings for 1928.

This is rather a menacing rule for farmers in the sense that nature may exercise destructive power through Spring storms. The aged should take care of their health at this time, when the planetary aspects are not favorable to them. Women should be careful while this configuration continues, for they may be thwarted in the fulfillment of their heart's desires. There is a sign that appears to indicate for travelers unfavorable conditions causing delays and even accidents. This is not a lucky wedding-day, since it preases separate abinations and troubles with "in-laws." Jugo-Slavia and Turkey now come under a direction of the stars that seems to promise rapid development. Persons whose birthdate it is should devote strict attention to business affairs in the coming year, when aid from elderly persons may be expected. Children born on this day probably will be gifted artistically, but devoid of business sense. (Copyright, 1928)

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Wolf's Dance

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Who wants to buy any rabbit ears?" barked the Police Dog out in front of the den of the Woosie Wolf. Uncle Wiggily, who was hiding in the bushes, listened to the rustling noise which sounded louder and louder just inside the doorway of the den. "I think he's coming out!" whispered the rabbit to the dog. "Oh, no! Now I see the trick you are playing!" whined the Police Dog as, once again, he shouted: "Rabbit ears for sale!"

"Yes," answered Uncle Wiggily. "I think you see the trick I am going to play on the Wolf. Hearing you call about rabbit ears for sale, the Wolf will rush out to get some. And as soon as he rushes out I'll hop in and get Baby Bunty and her toy piano."

"You remember, I hope, how, in the stories before this, I told you about the Wolf carrying away Baby Bunty and her piano. Uncle Wiggily got the Police Dog to help him search for the little kidnapped orphan rabbit child. After listening at the door of the Fox and Bob Cat and hearing nothing, Uncle Wiggily and the Dog heard piano playing in the den of the Wolf. Then they knew Bunty was a prisoner in there and that she was playing her piano so she wouldn't be so sad. Uncle Wiggily hid in the bushes near by and told the Police Dog to shout like a fish peddler about rabbit ears for sale. At first the Dog didn't know what this was for. "But I see now," he chuckled as the rustling at the door of the Wolf's den became louder. "Now I see!" A moment later out rushed the bad chap himself. "Who has rabbit ears for me?" howled the Wolf. "I have!" growled the Police Dog. Uncle Wiggily, who was hiding in the bushes, began to run toward the den.

hoping to slip in, when the Wolf's back was turned, to rescue Bunty and her toy piano. "Give me some rabbit ears!" snarled the Wolf, not seeing Uncle Wiggily going in the den. "I want a lot of rabbit ears."

"Have you any money to pay for them?" asked the Dog, pretending he was a peddler. "Of course, I have money!" growled the Wolf. Then he began to search in his pockets and while he was doing that the Police Dog made a sudden jump and caught hold of the Wolf by one ear.

"Wow! Wow! Let go!" howled the Wolf. "I will after a while!" whined the Police Dog. "Hurry into the den, Uncle Wiggily," he called to the rabbit gentleman. "Get Baby Bunty out while I hold this Wolf by his ear!"

"I'll get Bunty!" said Uncle Wiggily. Quickly he hopped into the cave den where poor Bunty was sitting and, and in a dark corner, playing on "tinkle tinkle," as she called her little piano.

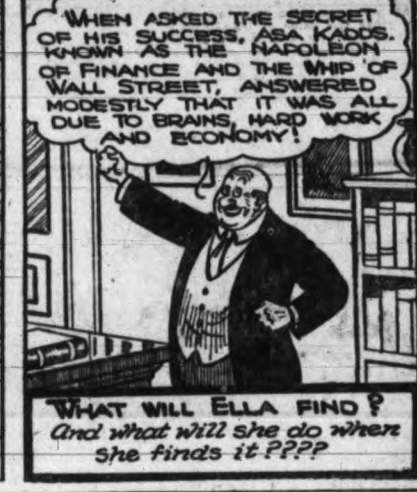

"I've come to save you, Bunty!" called Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, I'm so glad!" exclaimed the little orphan rabbit. Taking hold of her paw in one of his Uncle Wiggily led her out of the den, carrying in his other paw her toy piano. Outside the den the Police Dog still had hold of the Wolf's ear. The bad chap was tugged to get loose.

"You played a trick on me!" he howled. "You didn't have any rabbit ears at all! It was a trick!" "Of course, it was!" barked the brave Dog. "Uncle Wiggily has rabbit ears, though he doesn't want to sell them. Ah, I see, Mr. Longears, that you have Bunty!" went on the Dog. "We'll run home with her. He let go the Wolf ear, but as soon as this had been done the bad chap started chasing Uncle Wiggily and Bunty.

"But I know how to make him stop!" said Uncle Wiggily. "How?" asked the Police Dog who was quite tired from having held on to the Wolf's ear so long. "How can you stop the Wolf from chasing us?" "By making him dance when Bunty plays a tune on her piano," said the rabbit gentleman. "Quick, Bunty! Play a lively tune." So Bunty played on her toy piano such a jolly dance that the Wolf couldn't keep his paws still. He just had to dance! And when he danced he got so tired that he couldn't chase even a small. Uncle Wiggily and the Police Dog knew better than to dance. And so when the Wolf had danced so long that he fell down in a heap, all tired out the bunny uncle, the Police Dog and Baby Bunty ran along safely home with the toy piano. So everything came out all right. And if the cork doesn't pop out of the bottle of vinegar and tickle the foot of the stairs, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the March wind.

reading of the Water Act amendment, which proposes to grant rebates on principal and interest up to a maximum of twenty-five per cent on the loans made to water districts down to the end of 1923. Mr. Jones added, however, that he was not satisfied with the gift, and urged the Government to extend the operation of the rebate to the end of 1927.

Mr. Jones declared that a large proportion of Okanagan's population had departed while the Minister had been trying to handle this problem during the last ten years.

"The Minister has thrown overboard the recommendation of Major Swan, who recently investigated conditions in the Okanagan, and adopted a proposal I myself made several years ago," added Mr. Jones. "I congratulate him on adopting good Conservative policy."

The debate was adjourned.

SAYS PARKS ARE SAFE IN HANDS OF GOVERNMENT

No Need to Worry Over Areas, Pattullo Declares

Rebutting any suggestion that the Government was not seeking to administer the parks within the Province to the very best advantage of the public, and with impartiality and justice towards all, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, declared in the Legislature yesterday that the custody of the parks could be left in no better hands than that of the Government.

He pointed out that the proposed legislation which would give authority to the Government to lease portions of public parks for residential or industrial purposes, would not affect the three larger parks of British Columbia, Mount Robson Park, Strathcona Park, and Garibaldi Park, which were operated under special acts. There were other parks throughout British Columbia which were administered by the Government without parks boards, among them Kootenay, Glacier Park, Columbia Park, and Mount Asiniboine Park, he explained.

MANY PARKS
In addition to these parks there were others which were operated under boards, and were appointed by the Government. These were Garibaldi Park, near Vancouver, the Sir Alexander Mackenzie Historic Park near Bella Coola, and parks at Quesset, Prince Rupert, Nakusp and Princeton. These parks had been created by the present administration, and, he demanded, could it be suggested that the Government was not alive to the interests of the public? He personally was just as much interested in preserving the natural beauties of park life areas as any other person, he affirmed.

He realized, however, that British Columbia was so endowed with natural beauties that when millions were resident here there would still be natural parks.

Some criticism had been raised because a large park-like area had not been set aside at Bella Coola. He would say that if a hundred industries were located in that district they could not mar the marvelous beauty and rugged grandeur of that district. It would therefore be futile to set it aside and create an administrative board.

TO CANCEL RESERVE

So it was, he pointed out, that in Mt. Asiniboine Park, as he had already informed the House, an opportunity had occurred to have the area leased to the C. P. R. and the park features maintained. It was proposed, therefore, to cancel the Asiniboine reserve. "Who is a better guardian of the public interests than the Government?" he demanded.

It had become customary for municipalities, public boards and organizations to seek more and more control of matters affecting themselves, said Mr. Pattullo, but when they encountered difficulties they always "came home to father," father in this case being the Government.

R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, said that he was not at all satisfied with the proposals to amend the Parks Act. He moved the adjournment of the debate until he had further opportunity of studying them.

LEGALITY OF GAS TAX QUESTIONED BY TORY MEMBER

Manson Confident New Bill Will Make Levy Secure

Whether the gasoline tax in British Columbia has ever been legal or whether it will be made legal by the Government's new legislation were questions which held the Legislature Thursday, when the new gasoline tax bill came up for second reading. After listening to lawyers' views for and against the bill, the House stood over further discussion.

H. D. Twigg, Conservative, of Victoria, while agreeing with the principle of the gasoline tax, declared the new legislation was open to grave legal question, although its sole purpose was to put the gasoline tax beyond all legal doubt. If the Government could make the gasoline tax legal in this way, he asked, why did it not make the fuel oil tax collectable by the same method? He objected to detailed clauses in the bill allowing searches of premises and the withdrawal of collectors' licenses without appeal.

If the gasoline tax has been collected illegally for some years, the new law would not make this collection legal, even though it purported to do so by its retroactive clauses, he asserted. He urged the Government to make some arrangement with the Dominion to put the legality of the tax beyond all doubt, and warned Attorney-General Manson that if the new bill were passed certain parties would attempt to destroy the entire tax.

ISSUES DIFFICULT
Mr. Manson admitted that no lawyer could foresee the final decision of the courts on any taxation matter, and cited Privy Council cases to show the difficulties involved.

He declared the tax had the general support of the public and should be retained. To this end, he said, the Government had drafted the new legislation with the utmost care after taking account of similar legislation in other provinces and after consultation with leading counsel.

"In my opinion," he said, "the Privy Council would uphold this bill if it were ever attacked."

He added that it was necessary to make the law retroactive so that there would be no question about the Government's right to collect the money already secured from the gasoline tax. C. F. Davis, Conservative, of Cowichan-Newcastle, said he believed Mr. Manson was right about the validity of the new bill, but declared against the gasoline tax itself. He objected, he said, to giving the Government any further taxation powers whatever, as it already was levying far too many taxes.

R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, adjourned the debate.

TWO LONE CITIZENS AVOID GAS TAXES

Two stalwart citizens of British Columbia have actually succeeded in evading the gasoline tax since it was imposed. Attorney-General Manson informed the Legislature yesterday. The House was intrigued to know how such a remarkable feat could be accomplished when practically every member of the Assembly pays the tax every time he fills the gasoline tank of his automobile. Mr. Manson did not enlighten the House further, however, but cited these facts as evidence that the levy was popular, since only two persons had sought to evade it. Anxious to know who the mysterious tax evaders are and how they accomplish their doubtful ends, members will ask Mr. Manson more about it when the new gasoline tax bill goes into committee.

AT THE THEATRES

FLORENCE VIDOR AS COMMEDIANNE AT THE COLISEUM THEATRE

Florence Vidor as a comedienne is the rare treat offered by the Paramount picture "Afraid to Love," at the Coliseum Theatre to-day, in which she is starred. Always anxious to demonstrate to the public that she is extremely versatile, Miss Vidor has suddenly switched from powerfully dramatic and emotional roles to light comedy in which it is declared, she is sensation. Clive Brook, her leading man and the cast includes Norman Trevor, Jocelyn Lee and Arthur Lubin.

RICHARD DIX IS STAR IN PICTURE NOW AT CAPITOL

In "The Gay Defender," Richard Dix plays the role of a Spanish rancher of California in 40, who turns to swash-buckling banditry after American desperado rob him of his gold, home, sweetheart and honor. Thelma Todd, a comparative newcomer to the screen, plays the role of the American girl for whom Dix fights and wins. She is a lovely blonde, hitherto seen only with Gary Cooper in a Western called "The Cowboy." Her promise in that picture is more than fulfilled in this picture. Another fine characterization is that of Fred Kohler, who is known as "the king of the screen." He is excellent in a colorful role of a professional man-killer, in this case with Dix as his prey.

WESTERN PICTURE PROVIDES THRILLS AT THE COLUMBIA

The most exciting picture of the West ever filmed—and no Indian! The abused redskin is given respite in "The Land Beyond the Law," the new First National Western feature starring Ken Maynard at the Columbia Theatre. Marion Jackson, author of the story, found sufficient villains among the type of white man who regard the Indian as a nuisance, in the early settler days without having to pick on "Lo—the Poor Indian."

MONTAGUE LOVE IS A LIKEABLE VILLAIN IN LATEST PICTURE

Montague Love, who is rapidly gaining a place as one of the screen's most noted villains, has a sympathetic role in "Rose of the Golden West," George Fitzmaurice's elaborate production for First National Pictures, at the Variety Theatre to-day. Mary Astor, the heroine of "Rose of the Golden West," a stirring epic of California in the days when the world powers were opposed for possession of the rich western empire, is one of the few noted actresses in pictures who have not bobbed their hair. Miss Astor's tresses are unusually long and are a beautiful Auburn shade.

MAY McAVOY, QUEEN OF FREELANCERS, NOW AT PLAYHOUSE

"Queen of freelance stars," were the words in which one critic described May McAvoy, whose latest starring picture is Warner Brothers' production of "Irish Hearts," directed by Byron Haskin. The item continued: "She was one of the first really big names in that field, and she received many plum roles. There were leading parts in 'West of the Water Tower,' 'Ben-Hur,' 'Grumpy,' 'Only 30,' 'Clarence,' 'Kick Back,' 'The Sign of the Cross,' 'The Mental Tommy,' 'The Passionate Quest,' 'Three Women' and 'Lady Windermere's Fan' (the last three Warner Brothers' pictures), and others."

Considering her success in the freelance field, the film colony was surprised to hear of her signing a long-term contract with Warner Brothers, now showing at the Playhouse.

"BIG PARADE" FIRST NOVEL FROM PEN OF LAURENCE STALLINGS

"The Big Parade," now at the Dominion Theatre, which King Vidor made for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, is the first picture inspired by the pen of Captain Laurence Stallings, the well-known veteran of the A.E.F., playwright, novelist and journalist, who has contributed more than any other one man to knowledge of the life in France during the great world crisis of 1917-18. This knowledge is epitomized in the form of an entertaining romance of love, thrills, passion and laughter centering in the two characters of Jim Apperson, superbly played by John Gilbert, and Mollander, a peasant man's wife, delightfully portrayed by Renee Adoree.

ENGLISH SINGERS WILL APPEAR AT ROYAL NEXT WEEK

The English Singers, who will render one of their captivating novel programmes of old century gems in the Royal Victoria Theatre on Wednesday, March 7, at 8:30 p.m., have inaugurated a new style of order and behavior on the concert stage. Seated about a table with the music before them, which they steadily glance at, they sing with ease and joy. Completely in tune with their audience, there is generated an atmosphere of happiness and is rarely, if ever, provided in concert halls during the customary formal method of presentation. So the English Singers make a double appeal to the eye, ear and the eye. Mail orders for the Singers may be sent to the Royal, and the box office will be open on Monday, March 5.

NORMAN WILKS PLAYS TO-NIGHT

Great English Pianist at First Baptist Church

The great English pianist, Norman Wilks, will give his recital to-night at the First Baptist Church Auditorium, which will commence at 8:30 o'clock. At present he is playing at his top-most form, and his programme, including a Brahms and a Chopin group, and the "Walden" Sonata by Beethoven, is sure to please all pianists and music lovers generally. In a final group of exquisite numbers is included Frank Bridge's "Fireflies," a difficult but gorgeous moroccan, and "Erl-Koring" (Schubert-Liszt). The recital is under most distinguished patronage.

Tests of Fuelless Motor Are Awaited

New York, March 2.—The Daniel Guggenheim Fund for Promotion of Aeronautics announced yesterday that some of its members had considered the reported invention of an electromagnetic motor, "some months ago," and had decided to take no action until the device had been exhaustively tested. Published reports that the fund was connected in any way with the fuelless motor enterprise were denied. The motor, said to derive its power from the motion of the earth and to require no fuel for its operation, is the invention of Lester J. Hendershot.
